Latest Soviet Move Will Not Halt U.S. Diplomatic Plans

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The United States plans to continue its diplomatic offensive to contain Russian expansionism despite Moscow's endeavor to call an international conference to end the "cold war."

It was made clear today that there will be no letdown in the U. S. military program or plans to aid nations friendly to democracy.

Officials are hopeful that the propaganda effect of Moscow's maneuver will be overcome by the forthright statement of Secretary of State Marshall that the United States will hold no two-power conference with the Soviet Union.

Caught Off Balance

It is well-established now that American officials were caught off balance when the Moscow radio Monday night blared forth a summary of conversations between U. S. Ambassador W. Bedell Smith and Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov.

Through the Moscow version, the world was given to believe that

Rescue Workers Seeking To Free Trapped Miners

SHAMOKIN, Pa., May 13.—(INS)—Rescue squads worked today to free three miners still believed alive in a section of a water-filled mine, 200 feet underground in an independent coal shaft near Shamokin.

State Trooper Carl Lubis, of the Shamokin sub-station, said the rescue workers were independent miners from the Ranshaw area in which the mine is located. He identified the trapped Shamokin miners as Edward Heck, Charles Bashore and Peter Gordon. The shaft is owned by the trapped miners.

More than 75 feet of water filled part of the independent working, blocking the miners' escape, according to Lubis.

Rescue operations started late yesterday when the trio failed to appear at their homes in Shamokin.

Lubis indicated operations would be hampered until rescue squads could place pumps in operation to lower the water level in the mine where the men were believed trapped.

GNCA Diners See Old 'Ghost' Flee From City

Episode Features Tenth Birthday Dinner Of Association Last Night

G. MASON OWLETT
CHIEF SPEAKER

They laid a ghost in the Cathedral Wednesday night.

Fact is they went further. They drove the ghost out of town, after denuding him of his shirt or sheet and then passing out souvenirs of his shirt to the 600 guests assembled at the 10th birthday dinner of the Greater New Castle Association.

The ghost was the one which sought to make New Castle its headquarters some years ago but has now departed due to lack of industrial and housing space.

Features Program

The ghost chasing episode was a feature of the program which marked the birthday dinner along with an address by Hon. G. Mason Owlett, president of the Manufacturers' Association and by three presidents of the GNCA. It was a birthday party that totalled up the achievement of the past decade and cleared the books for the next one.

Mr. Owlett commended the courageous spirit of the citizens of this city in the face of adversity, congratulated them upon the diversification of industry now here, and closed by reminding them that the future was within their own hands.

Commends City

Said Mr. Owlett in part: "I like to come to New Castle because here you have a community that has character and courage—attributes that are admired by all mankind. Such qualities are not the result of your splendid geographic location, your industries or your farms. New Castle's gifts of character and courage are the reflection of the spirit and the personality of its people."

"This is a town that has felt the searing fires of adversity. The flames were all the more cruel because before they flared this was a town that had known greatness. More than a century ago, New Castle was a flourishing frontier town"

Call Hoffman To Tell Of Fund Needs For E.R.P.

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—GOP senate leaders set aside the new Vandenberg security formula for a policy review today and turned their attention to financial requirements of the European recovery program.

Paul G. Hoffman, economic assistance administrator, was called to tell the senate appropriations committee of his money needs in launching the European aid program.

Congress authorized five billion three hundred million dollars for the sixteen Marshall plan countries.

At the same time, a high-ranking Republican disclosed that the Vandenberg resolution, held up in committee, will be considered by the GOP policy committee tomorrow.

The policy declaration sponsored by Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) was delayed on the grounds that it would be "bad timing" to push it in the face of current confusion over United States-Soviet note controversy.

Vandenberg, it was learned, told the policy group of his proposed plan for strengthening collective defense under the United Nations at a meeting last week. But members said the resolution was not considered in detail at that time.

Senate leaders declined to comment on the resolution because of its far-reaching possibilities, in effect paving the way for American participation in a defense alliance with western European nations.

Duff Fixes Date For Execution

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff today fixed June 28 for the electrocution of George H. Chapman, of Bingham township, Potter county, for the fatal shooting of his wife at their home last August.

Chapman pleaded guilty, but claimed he was intoxicated at the time of the shooting.

The case was appealed to the supreme court which upheld the trial court April 22. The governor's office said it was understood that a clemency plea would be presented to the State Pardons Board in June.

Condon Letter Remains Secret Says President

By SAM FOGG

WASHINGTON, May 13.—President Truman said today that he does not propose to make public an FBI letter concerning the loyalty of Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

Condon, accused by the House Un-American Activities committee of being "one of the weakest links in our atomic security," has requested publication of the letter as demanded by the House committee.

The President indicated at his news conference that a higher principle is involved in the matter than just the publication of a single letter.

Mr. Truman declared emphatically that Congress does not have the power to make the Chief Executive divulge confidential information and therefore the FBI letter, written by Director J. Edgar Hoover, will not be made public.

The President's statement came as the House was expected to pass a bill compelling cabinet members and government to turn over any information demanded by a congressional committee.

Chrysler Strike Forces 11,000 More To Become Idle

DETROIT, May 13.—(INS)—The one-day-old strike of 75,000 UAW-CIO members against the Chrysler Corporation forced 11,000 vehicle body-builders into idleness today and threatened to mushroom even further.

Picketing at metropolitan Detroit's eleven Chrysler plants continued peacefully as the Briggs Manufacturing company suspended the assembly of Chrysler-bound bodies.

Two thousand additional layoffs are expected at Briggs by Monday. Another 1,800 wage earners were furloughed at Briggs' Evansville, Ind., plant an indication grows that unemployment among Chrysler suppliers eventually would mount to near 50,000.

There was no indication, as the auto union's third-round wage drive entered its second day, that the corporation planned to sue the UAW under Michigan law for calling the strike illegally.

Laundryman Is Found Wounded

Sam Yee, Venerable Laundryman, Expires In Hospital Of Self-Inflicted Wound

Sam Yee, aged 72 years, of 127 East North street, venerable Chinese laundryman here for almost a half century, was found mortally wounded in his room in back of the laundry at 3 o'clock this morning, and died in the Jameson Memorial hospital at 4:10 o'clock this morning. According to Coroner Charles E. Allen, who investigated the circumstances, Yee died of a self-inflicted wound.

Mr. Yee came to New Castle 40 years ago, and had been engaged in business on East North street, most of that time. Some years ago he had procured a .38 calibre Spanish pistol for protection when a tong war broke out in this section of the country. The powder had deteriorated to such an extent that the bullet, instead of tearing its way through the skull, just penetrated the brain, and he lived for over three hours after he had wounded himself. His plight was discovered by his partner, Wing Yee, who communicated with Davis Yee, of West Washington street, and he in turn notified police, who had the wounded man removed to the hospital.

Sam Yee was born in San Francisco September 9, 1875.

His body was removed to the Fred C. Wolford Funeral Home on East North street, where friends may call this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. Tomorrow morning the body will be taken to the Sampson Funeral Home in Neville street, Pittsburgh, where it will remain until burial in Homewood cemetery, two weeks hence.

Box Turtle Found In Harbor Section

City Forester States That Peculiar Looking Turtle Is Almost Non-Existent

John Rentz, of R. D. 2, Harbor road, discovered a very peculiar looking turtle on his property this week which has caused widespread curiosity.

Owen P. Fox, city forester, who was called to examine it, stated that it was technically known as a "box turtle," a species that is very rare in this section of the country.

The top shell of the turtle is very high with a flat shell on the bottom portion. Hinges on both front and rear portions of the top shell enables the turtle to quickly draw in its head and feet in case of approaching danger, protecting the exposed parts.

Other peculiar markings were strange yellow lines on the top shell which Mr. Fox stated were native to the turtle and not placed there by man. According to Mr. Fox, this type of turtle does the work of the toad which is becoming almost non-existent in the part of the country.

Battle Mounts For Control Of Jerusalem Area

By BENN FELLER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

JERUSALEM, May 13.—Jewish army forces intensified their fight today to reopen the vital Tel Aviv-Jerusalem highway, sealed away by Arabs in a mounting battle for control of the Jerusalem area.

Two major struggles continued in progress west and south of the holy city as both Jews and Arabs strove for the upper hand before British relinquishes her mandate at 12:01 a. m. Saturday.

Jewish mobilization authorities broadcast an urgent appeal to all ex-servicemen hitherto exempted from military service to report for duty immediately as the hour of decision on the future of the Holy Land neared.

Prepare For Invasion

Jews, girding for a possible all-out invasion of Palestine by Arab armies, were reported digging trenches and completing air raid shelters in every Jewish town and settlement from Beer-sheba, in the south, to the Sea of Galilee, in the north.

In the Arab port city of Jaffa talks were continued meanwhile on the Arab decision to surrender the city, largest in Palestine, to forces of the Jewish Haganah.

The Haganah commander still is awaiting an Arab decision on surrender terms before moving Jewish forces into the city. Negotiations by the Arabs to give up control of the city were begun after it was acknowledged that Jaffa was in no position to defend itself.

Principal fighting is in progress on the main highway leading westward from Jerusalem to the main coastal plain and along the road south to the holy city of Hebron.

The Arabs severed the Tel Aviv-Jerusalem highway through a Jewish counter-attack against Haganah units battling to maintain control of the strategic Bab El Wad gorge.

UE&F Machinists To Have Election

Machinists of the United Engineering and Foundry company will hold an election on Friday to pass upon the question of maintenance of membership and the check-off of union dues.

Under the terms of the Taft-Hartley Act the election is required to get the sentiment of the employees. Where the election is affirmative, the company then recognizes the union as bargaining agent and agrees to deduct union dues from the payrolls. The men who are members of the union must agree to maintain their membership for the life of the contract.

The machinists of the United are represented by Local 1671, International Association of Machinists.

Nothing Changed By Soviet Move Says President

Truman Declares Hopes For World Peace Not Improved By Russian Attitude

PRESIDENT BACKS MARSHALL'S STAND

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—President Truman declared today that the recent conversations between United States and Russian diplomatic representatives have not improved his hopes for world peace.

The chief executive told a news conference that his viewpoint is unchanged since his assertion several weeks ago that Soviet expansionist policies had materially shaken his hopes for peace.

Mr. Truman emphatically ruled out any prospect of a bilateral conference between the United States and Russia to end the "cold war" or any conference between himself and Premier Stalin.

Against Outlawing

At the same time, the president expressed opposition to any congressional move to outlaw the Communist party in the United States.

Asked to give his view on the proposals to outlaw the Communist party as an organization advocating the overthrow of the United States government, Mr. Truman said he did not approve of such legislation.

He belittled the importance of American Communists—and likewise tossed a chip at the Henry Wallace third party by saying that splinter parties never do any real harm.

Flashes Anger

The president flashed a spark of anger in declaring that any meeting between himself and Soviet Premier Stalin is highly hypothetical. He pointed out that he frequently had announced his willingness to meet Stalin—in Washington but made it clear that he is issuing no new invitation.

Mr. Truman backed to the hilt Secretary of State Marshall's rejection of any two-powers conference on U. S.-Soviet difficulties.

He likewise stated that administration policies toward Russia had been faithfully outlined to Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov by U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith. Mr. Truman said the contents of his conversations with Molotov beforehand.

Issues Not Altered

The president said the Russian response to Smith's oral presentation had not altered the fundamental issues between Soviet Russia, the United States, and the rest of the world.

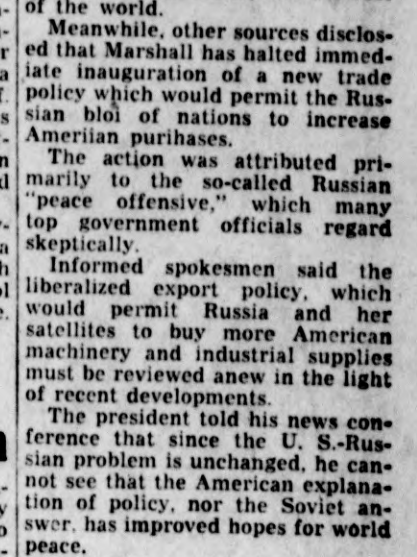

Meanwhile, other sources disclosed that Marshall has called immediate inauguration of a new trade policy which would permit the Russian bloc of nations to increase American purchases.

The action was attributed primarily to the so-called Russian "peace offensive," which many top government officials regard skeptically.

Informed spokesmen said the liberalized export policy which would permit Russia and her satellites to buy more American machinery and industrial supplies must be reviewed anew in the light of recent developments.

The president told his news conference that since the U. S.-Russian problem is unchanged, he cannot see that the American explanation of policy, nor the Soviet answer, has improved hopes for world peace.

Alleged Gray Market Firm Is Facing Suit

Jones And Laughlin Company Files Suit For $100,000 Damages

CHICAGO, May 13.—(INS)—The first legal action instituted by a steel producer against alleged gray market operators was filed in Chicago today before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe by Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation of Pittsburgh.

A similar action was filed in circuit court in Detroit.

Named as defendant in the complaint filed in the Chicago U. S. District Court was Howard Kimble, of Chicago.

A second suit filed in Michigan's Wayne county circuit court named Harry C. Edwards, doing business as Edwards Industrial Engineering, of Detroit, as defendant.

Ask $100,000 Damages

Damages of not less than $100,000 were asked against Kimble in the Chicago court action.

Kimble and Edwards were charged with offering for sale to the Ford Motor company 7,500 tons of steel ingots per month for 12 months, which they represented to be of Jones & Laughlin manufacture, at a gray market price of $75 a ton.

The published mill price of such ingots at that time was $36 a ton. The complaint charged the defendants claimed control of twice that amount of ingot capacity at Jones & Laughlin and in addition implied similar arrangements with other companies.

It further stated that when the ingots were quoted at $79, Edwards implied that $70 per ton of the purchase price was to be paid to Jones & Laughlin.

Information against the alleged gray market operators was obtained with the aid of the Ford Motor Co. Do Not Sell Ingots

The complaints asserted that Jones & Laughlin does not sell ingots and that Kimble and Edwards are unknown to the firm. They added that no one but official J. & L. representatives arrange sales of company ingots and that the actions of the defendants damaged the reputation and good will of Jones & Laughlin.

The complaints also pointed out that transactions proposed by Kimble would have involved shipment of ingots in interstate commerce, "a violation of the laws of the United States."

In addition to the award of damages, Jones & Laughlin seek an order restraining Kimble and his associates in the alleged gray market practices as they affect J. & L.

LATEST SOVIET MOVE WILL NOT HALT U. S. DIPLOMATIC PLANS

Smith proposed a two-power conference between his nation and Russia. This had two terrific impacts.

1. To arouse hopes throughout the world—inside and out the iron curtain—that the present impasse between Moscow and Washington could be broken. Moscow implied that Russia was willing to join in breaking it.

2. The appeal to public opinion in the United States, during an election year, that there is no danger in Russian expansionism. This possibly might have weakened support for defense plans and commitments to aid other parts of the world confronted with Communist activity.

Deny Any Proposal

Marshall flatly denied that Smith had proposed any general discussion or negotiations with Russia despite Molotov's interpretation.

The secretary declared that the United States has no intention of "entering into bi-lateral negotiations with the Soviet government on matters relating to the interests of other governments."

His emphasis that the United States will not talk alone with Moscow is likely to prove a blow to Russia's intentions. It has long been known that the Soviets feel that all problems could be settled easily single-handedly with the United States.

Marshall attempted to allay fears of London and Paris that the United States is willing to go ahead and talk separately with Moscow on subjects in which they are vitally interested.

He has in effect told Moscow that it can prove its good intentions by a conciliatory spirit in the United Nations, Berlin, Korea or Vienna. Referring to Molotov's assertion that the Soviets want better relations with the United States, the secretary said: "All right. They say they're peaceful. Let's see."

harmoniously together in this nation when both sides fully realized the interdependence of each upon the other. Mr. Owlett was introduced by Judge John G. Lamoree.

J. C. Wachtman, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association was the chairman of the evening and opened the program with a short talk upon the aims and ideals of the association and the purpose of the dinner.

Retiring President

Ivor V. Davis, president of the GNCA for the past year was the first speaker. Mr. Davis reviewed the work of the association for the ten years of its existence and spoke glowingly of the work of the membership in holding up the hands of the presidents.

"As I turn over the president's gavel to Louis B. Round, I want to express my gratitude for the support given me and ask for Mr. Round the same high measure of co-operation. Here in New Castle we represent a team, all of us. There is a place upon the team for everybody and if everybody plays his part the future looks good."

Norman A. Clark, chairman of the organization committee and first president of the GNCA followed Mr. Davis. He told of the early struggles to get the association upon a firm basis and of the spirit of co-operation and sacrifice that had marked the membership. He then introduced the men who have served as president following him up to 1947-48. They are J. Lepere Matthews, Attorney Marshall G. Matheny, C. Ed. Smith, Jr., and Attorney William D. Cobau. Mr. Clark also paid tribute to the Junior Chamber of Commerce out of which the GNCA grew.

The New President

The last speaker prior to Mr. Owlett was Louis B. Round, the president of the GNCA for 1948-49. He promised the best efforts in the leadership of the association this year but reminded the crowd that to make it a successful year he would need the support and co-operation of the membership. He also stressed the necessity of enlarging the membership.

The dinner was opened with the singing of America, directed by David W. Rees and the invocation by Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of First Congregational church. Mr. Rees also directed the pep singing between the dinner and the program with Miss Lillian Sarver at the piano. The crowd seemed to be "in the groove" musically and the pep singing seemed more than ordinarily enthusiastic.

The ghost chasing episode was ludicrous and symbolic. The skit was prepared by Otto Pearsall and William Morgan and provided the needed touch of comedy. The souvenir pieces of the ghost's shirt will probably be mementoes long kept here.

Tribute Given

During the program Edward M. Flaherty son of the late J. P. Flaherty of the Johnson Bronze, was presented with a framed resolution of respect and regret at the passing of his father.

Upon the stage back of the speaker's table a large chart had been prepared showing the progress of New Castle since 1937. This chart was also reproduced in the annual report given each guest.

The plans for the birthday party were in charge of William A. Langan as general chairman and the result of his work was evident in the smoothness of the whole evening's events. Mr. Langan was called to Niagara Falls several days ago upon business and it was impossible for him to be present. Bart Richards served as toastmaster.

County Firemen Meet In Ellwood

Members of the Lawrence County Firemen's Association had their monthly meeting in the Ellwood City fire station Wednesday evening, with a good attendance of the membership. The Ellwood City firemen proved genial hosts on the occasion.

The visitors were shown the new equipment of the Ellwood City department and were much interested in their ladders. Bob Dambough of the Ellwood City Rescue Squad, gave a fine talk on first aid, and demonstrated the department's resuscitator. This is available for the use of any of the county departments, it was announced.

Later in the evening, a nice lunch was served by a committee composed of Charles West, C. B. Kingston and Bob Dambough.

The new Castle department will entertain the association at its June meeting, the meeting place to be announced later.

TRUMAN'S TRIP

Although President Truman has some important speeches scheduled, he makes no secret of the fact that his trip to the West will be more of a campaign tour than anything else. He has discussed the matter openly with his political aides and left it to them to arrange affairs so that he will meet the largest number of people.

This frankness is commendable, but it may as well be admitted that Truman would have had difficulty in hiding his real purpose. The mere announcement that he is going to travel by special train instead of by plane is enough to let the cat out of the bag. Thus he will be able to stop at hundreds of cities and towns and make those rear platform talks which candidates for office find so enjoyable. Of course he will be away from Washington much longer, but in an election year it is understood that official business can wait.

With the South in at least partial revolt, victory for Truman in November will depend entirely on his ability to carry the great states of the North, Middle West and West. So he plans to make formal addresses in Illinois, Nebraska, Washington and California and informal talks wherever a sizable audience can be attracted to a railroad station.

It is a rough, punishing assignment which Truman has given himself. That he has accepted it so early in the campaign may be taken as evidence of his determination to put up a fight for reelection.

NOT A THREAT

Disclosure that Army engineers are well along toward completing the $13,000,000 Misawa Air Base in Japan may bring charges that this huge project is evidence of aggressive designs toward the Soviets on the part of the United States. They may be made by the Russians or their sympathizers in this country, despite facts leading to a different conclusion.

There is another explanation. It is that the Misawa base, like others built by the Japanese, was unsited for by American planes. Japanese fields were not big enough for B-29s and the air strips were thin layers of concrete on weak foundations. If American planes were to operate in Japan these bases had to be made over. And, of course, as long as American troops occupy that country it will be necessary to station aircraft there.

Misawa Air Base is strategically located on the northeast tip of the island of Honshu. From there American bombers could, in case of war with Russia, strike at the important cities of Siberia. But the Russians undoubtedly have similar bases there and may have them in northern Korea as well. Misawa does not necessarily constitute a threat.

The best indicator of American intentions is this country's occupation policy in Japan. The United States continues to keep that country disarmed and unable even to defend itself. If there should be a change, if Japan should begin getting arms in quantities, it will be time for the reds to worry.

DEFENSE DECISION

Despite strenuous administration efforts to persuade it to take something less, Congress has decided to make an immediate start toward a 70-group Air Force composed of up-to-the-minute planes. The vote in House and Senate was virtually unanimous.

The Senate vote was a considerable surprise. When the House acted, its refusal to be guided by administration wishes seemed a natural result of the confusion within the Department of Defense. Since then, Secretary Forrestal has managed to get the Joint Chiefs of Staff behind a program that included a 66-group Air Force, to be made up partly of planes now in storage, and attempted to advance arguments for not going beyond this recommendation.

One of these arguments was that a modern 70-group Air Force would seriously unbalance the defense establishment. To restore the balance, Secretary Forrestal said, would entail adding $9,000,000,000 to the 1949 defense budget instead of the 3,481,000,000 he requested. That, he said, would place a dangerously inflationary burden on the economy.

Another argument advanced against a 70-group Air Force was that it would be misunderstood abroad. It was contended that air power of such proportions, to be created in four or five years and usable at a time when Russia may be able to build the atomic bomb, would be taken as proof of aggressive intent. It was said also that superiority in the air in the future would not meet the present need and might lead the Russians to strike in Europe now.

Congress was not convinced. It rejected the entire case built up by those responsible for foreign policy and defense. In the circumstances, the American people can only hope that its judgment will prove sound.

One of our friends says nothing gives him greater buyer's resistance than listening to a singing commercial on the radio.

About as fast as the government is reclaiming new farm lands it is cutting down the supply of agricultural acres by building four-lane highways.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Oestreicher, INS Foreign Director

One major question overshadowed all others in the international sphere, namely: Will President Truman and Premier Marshal Stalin get together to discuss American-Soviet differences and if so how can such a conference be arranged and where? It was obvious from the exchange of views made public in Moscow that U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and Foreign Minister Molotov made themselves entirely clear to one another at their respective level.

On Orders From Stalin Obviously Molotov said not make his statement without consultation with the orders from Stalin. By the same token, President Truman made it clear that the American side of the picture represented no new policy but was merely a reiteration of the unchangeable United States attitude toward both American and Soviet moves in Europe.

It was conceded generally that the exchange at least has served to clear the air and while only super-optimists foresee an immediate end to the "cold war" between east and west there are many persons including Pope Pius who see great hope for the future. Much depends upon whether or not the Russians are willing to lose a little face by toning down their anti-Democratic propaganda as the first step in economic cooperation with the west.

May Find Common Ground Many observers with a completely realistic point of view long have believed that once the Marshall Plan and all its ramifications become fully effective, the Soviets will have to find some common ground.

She has been making many frantic trade deals with other countries in an effort to offset the unbalance inevitable when huge American sums and stores are poured into Europe. These are but raindrops when compared to the oceans of credits and hard commodities from the United States.

Adolf Hitler subjected Germany to the same tightly controlled and hermetically-sealed economy as prevails in Russia. Before he blocked off his channels to American and British resources, his shrewd economists obtained huge American and British investments.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

IS YOUR CHILD WELL TRAINED?

Yesterday we considered a simple but effective way of training the toddler to hold automatically running into the street—immediate effective physical pain without exception.

I said a number of parents have been writing me that they have been very successful with this training. However, an occasional mother writes that after the tot had been well trained to avoid the street while not with other children he would break over when he played with other children who had not been trained.

Retrain The Child To all such mothers I write that they can by the same method retrain this child to keep out of the street, no matter how many of his playmates don't, though they will have to spend considerable time and vigilance to do so. Yet the added time and effort required won't be nearly as great as was needed for the original training. I know a number of tots who are the only ones on their respective streets who have been trained effectively to avoid the street.

On this same principle parents write me in connection with many other problems, such as romping indoors, marring property or calling persons by ugly names. Often these parents say, "It was no problem till they played with other children." Always I entreat these parents to aim to make their child responsible for his own acts regardless of the playmates do.

While it is not easy to cultivate this responsibility in the child as he grows much older, especially while he is out of your sight and hearing, it is not at all impossible to do so. Center your attention on his behavior while right in your presence seeing to it that he never does what he clearly knows is forbidden, without his suffering immediate effective penalty.

Train him well in the unambiguous meaning of "No" (rarely used) when not with other children. (My bulletin, "How Teach Tot Meaning of No," may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y., applying the same training consistently when he violates clear prohibitions when with these other children in your presence. Be wholly consistent. If, for example, you don't let him run and romp indoors when no other child is there, don't allow him to do so when other children are there, and if requests don't quiet them, send them home.

You also need to do something more. You need to cultivate in him so good cooperation in a family atmosphere of understanding, companionship and love that he will not incline to do away from home when he is alone. The more satisfaction you can help him enjoy at home the more surely he will choose to do right away from home. His early useful inhibitions will prove useful to him later in proportion to his happiness of relationships in the home and his genuine esteem for his parents. Put not your trust in punishing him for his wrongs in your absence nor in trials and inquisitions. Strive so to guide him in your presence that he may find it easy to do right in your absence.

We can say much about the toastmaster for we work with him every day . . . and giving him a swelled head wouldn't be right for his family either . . . but Bart Richards you did a mighty fine job . . . We're glad we attended.

The incoming president . . . a man respected by friend and enemy . . . Louis B. Round . . . gave the keynote of the year 1948 . . . We the people of New Castle must make plans . . . Plans that will continue our prosperity . . . It is the aim to make this community so fine and desirable that industry will fight to bring their plants within this confine . . . But it's not a one man job . . . it will take all peoples . . . there is a place on this great team for everyone. You will be asked from time to time for assistance . . . and that is the way things stand today with L. B. at the helm.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Well, this goes to show that you just can't know everything! Here is part of a note I received this morning from Hollywood, Calif.

Not having any great confidence in the genuineness of Hollywood cowboys, I verified my correspondent's statement in my dictionary and, by golly, he's correct.

"I read your articles religiously every evening in the Hollywood Citizens-News," he writes (and I mention this part because why shouldn't I give myself a little free publicity?), "so got quite a kick out of your article a few days ago where you mention a long-horn steer coming down Route 6 'with his wife and daughter'."

"You evidently don't know that a steer is an animal that, as a bull-calf, has been prevented from ever becoming a husband. You may hear from some of your Texas readers. They will give you a laugh out of it. You will just have to be a little more careful with your livestock."

As I said before, I checked on it and the man is right.

But maybe the cow and calf that accompanied the BULL down the road were his sister and niece. And I dare my Hollywood livestock expert to correct me on that!

Incidentally, here is my public chastisement of the editor who read my column, for not having noticed the error. Editors are supposed to be omniscient—and let Louis Messolonghites (that's the syndicate editor who reads my stuff) look up that word in the dictionary!

Incidentally, Mr. Messolonghites—who in spite of his last name, is a good American from Zanesville, Ohio—is the bane of my life. He edits several of the columns published by my syndicate, so naturally he has become quite sour on life.

And on Wednesday, the day on which he reads my columns for the whole week, he seems to be the sourest.

Whenever the phone rings on Wednesday I answer it with fear and trembling.

"That's Louis," I say to my wife. Fortunately it usually isn't Louis.

But sometimes it is.

"Good morning," he says, "how's the weather out in Connecticut?"

And then it comes.

"You know that column you wrote about Truman?"

"I certainly do," I answer, "and I think it is a darn good column!"

"It is. But you know you are not allowed to use that kind of language in print."

Then he reminds me of the rules. Nothing we write must be libelous. It must be accurate and in good taste.

Otherwise, anything goes. This is a Free Press, you know.

So then Louis and I argue for ten minutes the syndicate pays for the telephone charge—and the argument finally ends with my writing another column—such a one as this.

Now don't ask me what column Louis killed to make me write this one. I won't tell you. But I'm glad he slipped up on that steer.

(Ed. Note: I took it for granted that the particular steer was a stepfather.)

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Anxious Days For Democrats

WASHINGTON, May 13.—These are anxious days at Democratic national headquarters as plans go forward for the grand tour that begins next month. Putting a presidential show on the road is a big job under the best of circumstances, and with what is happening—South, North, East, West—present circumstances can hardly be called best.

The Truman managers privately put a great deal of emphasis on the tour. They want their candidate to show the country that he has a new look and a new outlook. At a dozen stops a day on the tour to the Pacific Northwest and California, President Truman will talk to the crowds that come out to see him. And he will speak extemporaneously. In the homely, friendly fashion intended to show the man himself rather than the fretful president overburdened with affairs of state.

Pre-convention Swing Keynote This, as the anxious managers envision it, is to be the keynote of the pre-convention swing. The president, in their theory, has long been hiding his homely, friendly light under a bushel of stuffy set speeches. The new look first emerged when the president addressed the American Society of Newspaper Editors. After his set speech, he spoke off the record in homely vernacular. The contrast was striking. The president has never learned to be at ease with a manuscript before him. His reading is customarily so flat and spiritless that his words seem to carry little conviction. But speaking simply and directly, he was himself—a sincere, hard-working man trying earnestly to cope with the overwhelming problems of our day. Mr. Truman received many compliments on his extemporaneous performance for the editors.

Delight With Talk The president's advisers persuaded him to talk in the same informal way to the recent conference of health authorities. Since this was a more difficult test, it was decided not to seek network time for the speech. Afterward the president's intimates, delighted with his talk, were regretful that he had not had a radio audience. They took this as final proof that a new approach was not only possible but highly desirable.

At the core of the new concept there is truth. Mr. Truman is a sincere American trying to meet problems that have never confronted this nation before. It is when he is measured against the imperative necessity of the hour that he is so often tagged inadequate.

But whether the president of the United States can become the homely philosopher and speak freely and off the cuff in a time of crisis, because he is chief of state of the most powerful nation on earth, every word he speaks echoes around the world.

Hazard Of New Approach In this fact lies the very real hazard in the new approach that the White House advisers hope to develop on the coming tour. The hazard is political at home and diplomatic abroad.

It takes art as well as nature to be folksy and friendly and yet avoid one of those gaffs that now and then betray even the most experienced extemporaneous speaker. Art, which comes through long experience, may be even more important than nature.

Mr. Truman has learned a great deal in the impossible office of president. Some of the learning has been painful in the extreme. Much for the president and the country.

Not long after he entered the White House, Mr. Truman made a friendly folksy visit to his home (Continued on Page Seven)

Jobs Upon A Time

Humorist Arthur (Bugs) Baer has been writing three syndicated columns for many years. Bugs was born in Philadelphia, seventh of 14 children. At 14 he quit school, and his first job was as a delivery boy on a Philadelphia newspaper. Soon he was sports cartoonist and editorial columnist. Going to New York he began a humor column. Bugs spent the World War I years training as an artillery officer. Later he joined King Features Syndicate where he has been ever since. It is estimated that 15,000,000 persons read him daily.

Teaches Press Agent "Art"

By PAUL GALLICO

Just to give you an idea of what goes on in our village when you're not looking, last week I went downtown to the Business School of the City College of New York and visited the classroom of Professor Arthur Pine who was instructing a group in the modern science of public relations.

I went because at such times as he is not operating as a learned and eminent pedagogue, Prof. Pine is proprietor of another pitch known as Artie Pine Associates.

He's A Press Agent

In this capacity, if you happen to be connected with a newspaper, you are quite likely to receive a telephone call from Professor—I mean Artie—during which he will say in effect, "Hey, Paul, get this. This'll kill you. You know my client, J. Tillinghast McSwab—makes those wonderful McSwab sneeze-proof sweaters—that sell in any store from a dollar and a half up? Well, I'm out with this McSwab the other night and all of a sudden he says to me, 'Why does a chicken cross the road to get on the other side and a fireman wear a helmet?' I'm telling you. He's a wit. You can go ahead and use it. It's okay."

You guessed it, a press agent. Well, that is all right since the only good thing about a telephone is the way they build it so you can drop it back on the hook any instant, but imagine my cold horror to learn that here is this fellow doubling at the local seat of learning and teaching this sort of thing to the young. This I had to see.

Teaching Hornswoggling

Well, it's so, all right. While you are innocently going on about your business, whatever it is, and taking it for granted that all's not too bad with the world, there is Artie, I mean Professor Pine, huddled with his group actually teaching them the fine art of hornswoggling valuable white newspaper space for free from innocent, hard-working newspapermen, editors, columnists, et cetera, not to mention their advertising departments which are in the business of renting out such space for cash in advance.

Propounds Hypothetical Questions

To his eager beavers, anxious to learn the trade of hijacking the fearless, upright and public spirited press out of something for nothing he propounds such hypothetical problems as—"Your client, the Ajax Crockery and Chinaware Company, wishes to hamboozle Life Magazine out of a picture story and layout for free. How would you go about setting this up?" Or—"You represent the United Jaw-breaker Candy Company and you desire to get them a break, strictly on the cuff, in Gallico's syndicated column. Gallico is an upright character of sterling honesty who cannot be bought for anything less than five pounds of candy which the company is not prepared to expend at this time. How do you go about leading Mr. Gallico up the garden path so that he will be befuddled into devoting his entire column to your company under the impression that he is writing a learned, erudite essay on the life cycle and the course of true love in a goldfish bowl?"

Then He Tells Them

And then, by George, what is more, he tells them. The only comfort in this lamentable situation is that up at Columbia, in the School of Journalism, equally erudite professors are instructing classes of would-be newspapermen in the fine art of smelling out the press agent story at distances varying from five to fifty miles, and coaching them in the technique of tossing the press agent. They sort of tend to cancel one another out, but it seems to me that a great deal of trouble might be saved for the future generation by taking the current Journalism class and Prof. Pine's group of students of Publicity and Refined Press Agency, putting them all together in one room and locking the door.

State Police Say:

May drivers of commercial vehicles are operating in violation of the law in that their vehicles are not equipped with red flags and flares. All buses and all trucks registered in the "T" class and over are required to be equipped with three red flags and not less than three flares to be used in case of an emergency. Drivers should have matches, a cigarette lighter, etc., to light the flares, as an unlighted signaling flare offers no warning to other motorists.

The World and the Mud Puddles

NONE SO BLIND—President Truman, imitating his predecessor, did make a journey abroad—to Potsdam, in fact, and there conferred with Stalin and returned to the United States with the optimistic statement that the three Powers were "more closely than ever bound together in determination to achieve a just and lasting peace." Mr. Truman was uninformed as to the ramifications of the secret commitments of F. D. R. and nobody now realizes more than he the tremendous error of misplaced confidence.

If our relations with Russia have grown progressively worse since Potsdam, we at least have the moral satisfaction of knowing that it is not because we have been unreasonable or unjust. Our interest ever since the end of the war has been to establish a real peace and to see the war ravaged nations get back on their feet. Russia, with decidedly contrary interests, has not only blocked every move toward peace and rehabilitation, but has continued a policy of aggressive expansion which can be compared only with that of the Nazis at the peak of their prowess.

Purpose Of Russia Plain Even before her entry into the war against Germany, the purpose of Russia should have been plain to intelligent Americans. Her first step in conjunction with Hitler, was the eventual seizure of a large section of Polish territory. Her second direct move was the conquest of Finland. During 1944, the Soviets took one by one the Baltic States of Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, soon merged by force into the Soviet Union. All the while the United States and Britain were pushing with their maximum strength for an Axis knock-out. Stalin's troops were taking over Romania, Poland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and East Prussia. It is no secret now that the campaign for driving the Germans out

SIXTY years ago, Dr. Borne, a German scientist, discovered the source of GEO-MINERAL. In a remote spot in Mississippi, he found that in a layer of mineral bearing clay, he also learned that for years, first the Indians and then the people living in this section had been using mineral extracted from this clay for many medicinal purposes. He heard many stories from people who had been relieved of various ailments by drinking a solution of minerals extracted from this clay. The scientist opened a mine there, and ever since, the fame of this natural mineral medicine has spread throughout the wide continent.

Drugless Health!

REGARDLESS of how long you have been sick, and how many medicines you tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL. Your trouble may be mineral-iron deficiency. Lack of minerals makes your blood weak, your resistance low—run down. Simple anemia, headaches, nervousness, gas, toxins, indigestion, and other symptoms may be present. Arthritis and rheumatic pains also may develop. GEO-MINERAL helps to enrich your blood, and make you strong, full of pep, life and energy.

HIPOCRATES was the father of medicine. Ever since his time, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. Doctors today use minerals as a basic material in many of their prescriptions. GEO-MINERAL contains minerals found in the world's best springs. Watch the results a day or two after using it. The housecleaning it will do in your body, the poisons it will bring out. When you see this, do not get alarmed—thank Nature who created GEO-MINERAL as a sign that the medicine is working on you, and realize its priceless value.

Wonder Minerals

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The most important of our people, including doctors, go to mineral springs. They would not patronize these springs without any benefit.

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their mineral waters. We have all heard of the wonderful springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thonon in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal youth and strength, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

Rich Red Blood

MEDICAL records show 68% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, feel blue, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and when life seems not worth living—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-Mineral then is what you need.

GEO-MINERAL is not a physic, and does not interfere with the foods in your stomach. It is a mineral-iron supplement and adds rich red blood, helps to build you up and assists your system to throw away poisons. When the poisons are out of your system, you begin to feel a new life, as Nature starts to complete the recovery.

100% Guaranteed!

WE urge everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store, now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not satisfied, your money will be refunded in full. TRY it today—it may do wonders for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

SHOW Geo-Mineral to your doctor and let him tell you, after he reads the formula on the label, about its merit. GEO-MINERAL contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil. NO harmful drugs. NO dose—is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Natural mineral ingredients highly recommended by the medical profession.

ECKERD'S DRUG STORE

Read What They Say!

Pharmacists, like doctors, know medicine best. Thousands of drug stores of high reputation, who now sell Geo-Mineral, report amazing results by its users.

"We not only sell Geo-Mineral," says G. A. Littlefield, Manager of Smith's Drug Store, Gastonia, N. C., "but as pharmacists, we know good medicine, and we believe there is none better than Geo-Mineral as a supplement for mineral deficiency. Doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums know the value of natural minerals. We are not surprised at the many users who came back to buy more and told us stories of amazing benefit. We recommend it to our friends, relatives, and beloved ones, and to every one wishing for better health."

"We wish to state that after selling Geo-Mineral for eight months, this product has broken all sales records in the medicine line in our drug store," reports Jack Wright, owner of Economy Drug Co., Anderson, S. C. "Users report almost miraculous results, helping sufferers with rheumatism, arthritis, weak kidneys, and various stomach ailments. We believe that there exist very few items on the 'drugstore' shelf with the merit of this natural mineral medicine. Of thousands of bottles sold on guarantee basis, there have been very few refunds made."

"We have sold Geo-Mineral for the last six months and it has been one of the best selling drug items we have ever handled," says Porter Bros., pharmacists of Concord, N. C. "Users report amazing results in many instances, and we personally believe Geo-Mineral is a good medicine for purposes as indicated, and recommend it to sufferers who have tried other medicines with little if any results. They may discover that Geo-Mineral is what they have probably been needing and looking for—we unhesitatingly recommend it."

History Of Trinity Episcopal Church And Erie Diocese

In connection with the coming centennial observance of Trinity Episcopal church of New Castle, the following history has been compiled of the Diocese of Erie and the New Castle church by members of the church, and is herewith presented.

The Diocese of Erie, covering an area of 9,500 square miles and including the 13 northwestern counties of Pennsylvania, was organized in 1910 from the Diocese of Pittsburgh, which then included the entire western part of the state, the Bishop being the Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, D.D., followed by the Rt. Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth, D.D., and the present bishop, the Rt. Rev. Harold E. Sawyer, D.D.S.T.D.

Trinity Parish
Trinity church as one of the largest parishes in the Diocese of Erie and at the extreme southern end of the diocese, was organized on Easter Monday, April 24, 1848, and the following vestrymen were elected: John M. Crawford, Johnathan Ayers, L. L. McGuffin, G. A. Scroggs, J. Hamilton, Dr. A. Andrews, C. Sloan, J. H. Brown and P. Reynolds.

The first rector was the Rev. Richard Smith, who remained for one year, in 1853 the Rev. John A. Bowman took charge and held services for three years in a room rented for the purpose. About this time, a considerable piece of land came into the possession of the parish through a legacy of Mrs. Andrews. In 1856, Rev. William Binet became rector of the parish and services were held in the court house. During his rectorship, the Andrews property was sold, and the vestry bought a lot on Neshannock Creek and proceeded to the erection of a church. The cornerstone was laid by Bishop Alonzo Potter, D.D., in the same year, but the church was not completed until some five years later. The stone used in this building was obtained from a quarry on E. Washington and Mr. Robinson, great-grandfather of Mrs. Peter Hillers now residing on Neshannock avenue, hauled the stone by horse and wagon to the site where it was cut.

In 1861 the Rev. John F. Ohl became rector, but remained only a year. He was followed in quick succession by the Rev. G. H. Jenks and the Rev. Mr. Ives. In 1864, T. H. Smythe was called in January, 1864, but died within the year. He was succeeded by the Rev. B. B. Killikelly, during whose rectorship the church was consecrated by the Rt. Rev. J. B. Kerfoot, D.D., first bishop of Pittsburgh on January 30, 1866.

The next autumn the Rev. Joseph Adderly became rector, but resigned the year following. He was followed by the Rev. W. S. Hayward, who was in turn succeeded by the Rev. Edmund Roberts. In 1872, Mr. Roberts was obliged through ill health, to resign, and for the succeeding four years the church was closed. It was reopened in 1876 and placed for a time under the charge of the Rev. William A. Fuller, a mission priest, who came up from Pittsburgh each Sunday. After him came Rev. Dr. White of Butler, who remained a short time. The services were then turned over to lay readers until the fall of 1882, when the Rev. J. D. Herron, D.D., became rector of the parish, which had no resident priest for ten years. Dr. Herron retained the rectorship for fifteen years, during which the parish saw a marked growth and development. The efforts of Dr. Herron cannot be overemphasized. He possessed a knowledge of church music, and after organizing a vested choir, and having no funds for music, Dr. Herron wrote the music for the choir himself. He also played the organ occasionally, a church paper, "The Trinity Record," was printed at intervals and Dr. Herron sometimes printed them himself on a printing press he had at the rectory. He resigned in 1897 and was succeeded by the Rev. Hubert H. Barber, who remained for three years.

The following Easter the Rev. Charles W. Tyler became rector. During his rectorship the present church building was erected, and the old building was sold to St. John's Lutheran church. The stone church in the building of the present church was quarried at Eastbrook. The cornerstone was laid by Matthias H. Henderson on November 19, 1901. The building committee consisted of the following vestrymen: Messrs. Edwin N. Ohl, George D. Blais, Sr., and Wm. T. Butz. Mr. M. H. Henderson, although not a vestryman, was a member of the committee. The remainder of the vestry at the time consisted of Messrs. William Eroe, John S. Wallace, William Carlyle, Thomas W. Falls, V. H. Diefenderfer and Frank Felton. The Rev. J. D. Herron, D.D.S.T.D., returned to New Castle for the occasion and was the principal speaker for the laying of the cornerstone.

The building was opened with impressive ceremonies by the Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, D.D., bishop of Pittsburgh, on the first Sunday after Trinity, June 1, 1902.

In the autumn of 1905, the Rev. John E. Reilly, D.D., succeeded the Rev. C. W. Tyler as rector, remaining in charge for four years. During his rectorship, Trinity parish suffered a great loss in the death of Matthias H. Henderson on September 18, 1908. Dr. Reilly was followed in turn by Rev. D. E. S. Perry, D.D., who resigned his rectorship in 1915. The Rev. Bruce B. Reddish, D.D., assumed his duties on December 1, 1915, and was given a six months' leave of absence to serve as voluntary chaplain in World War I. Under his persevering leadership the balance of the bonded indebtedness was wiped out and the church was consecrated by Rt. Rev. Rogers Israel, D.D., Bishop of Erie, on Memorial Day, 1919. The sermon at this service was by the Rev. J. Wilson Sutton, D.D., vicar of Trinity chapel, New York, and now rector of St. Stephen's church, New York City. The church was also further beautified by the placing of a chapel altar in the south transept as a thank offering and memorial. Fr. Reddish was succeeded by the Rev. Fr. William T. Reynolds, who was called to the rectorship on Easter Day, 1920. Under his leadership the Truth of the Healing Presence of Christ in His Church was emphasized.

Father Reynolds resigned as rector February 1, 1923 and the Rev. Philip C. Pearson, accepted the rectorship in June 1923. For 18 years he devoted himself not only to the work of the parish but also the affairs of the diocese. His sermons were deep and instructive, true Christian religion. He was always alert for the best interest of his parishioners, a willing counselor, a true priest. He ended his rectorate on May 1, 1941, the longest rectorship Trinity parish has had.

It is proper and fitting that mention be made here of the fine example of Christian life displayed by one Grand Old Senior Warden, Mr. William T. Butz, who served his church as vestryman for fifty-three years, fifty-one of which he served as senior warden. During this long period, he worked faithfully and conscientiously for Trinity church and earned for himself the respect of the entire community as a Christian gentleman. Mr. Butz departed this life October 12, 1938.

The Rev. Robert M. C. Griswold accepted the rectorship on December 1, 1941 and for the next five years worked diligently for the strengthening of Trinity church during the trying times of World War II. Through his efforts, in cooperation with the vestry and members, a number of additional beautiful stained glass windows and an improved lighting system was installed, on January 1, 1947, the Rev. Robert M. C. Griswold presented his resignation, to accept a call to St. Matthew's and St. Luke's church, Brooklyn, New York. For seven and a half months Trinity parish was without a rector.

The present rector, the Rev. Fr. Ralph E. Hovencamp, came into residence as rector of Trinity parish on October 14, 1947 and was instituted as rector on December 2, 1947 by the Rt. Rev. Harold E. Sawyer, D.D.S.T.D., present bishop of the diocese of Erie.

Trinity church is dedicated to the ever Blessed Trinity, in humble acknowledgment of God's merciful goodness to us as a nation, beseeching Him to keep us steadfast in His Faith and service throughout all generations.

St. Andrew's Chapel

St. Andrew's Mission, then known as Trinity Chapel, held its first services in a small building on Wilson avenue, 801 the mission was re-organized, services being held in Hughes hall, South Mill street and Long avenue. In 1902, a building was built at Reynolds street and Howard way. It was dedicated in June 1902, and the name changed to St. Andrew's mission. In July, 1908, the present building at Long avenue and Belvidere street was started, and on St. Andrew's day, November 30, 1908, it was formally dedicated by the late Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, D.D., bishop of Pittsburgh. St. Andrew's has been served by the Rev. Messrs. J. B. Herron, T. B. Clarke, A. Ison, R. G. Roscamp, Charles Tyler, J. R. Vaughn, W. W. Ridgeway, G. G. Golding, G. L. Grambs, S. M. Black, R. Becker, Charles J. Burton, Robert M. C. Griswold. At present, the mission is under the leadership of Rev. Fr. Ralph E. Hovencamp, rector of Trinity Episcopal church.

Garden Notes

You can sow outdoors now African daisy, ageratum, alysium, snapdragon, asters, candytuft, cosmos, dianthus, larkspur, lobelia, marigolds, nasturtium and petunias.

Those plants usually considered as tender annuals may be sown outdoors when all danger of frost is over. These include browallia, annual chrysanthemum, balsam, salvia, stock, torenia and verbenas. If the seeds have been started in doors the young seedlings may be transplanted to the garden.

To grow properly, carrots must be kept weed free, especially when they are small. Weeds soon smother young carrots.

In the small Freedom garden tomatoes should be trained to grow on stakes. Only about one-half as much space will be required for the plants if they are staked and better fruits may result.

Newly planted trees, shrubs or other perennials should be mulched and well watered, particularly if the weather is unusually warm and dry.

To give beans an extra germinating "push," soak them in water overnight before planting. After soaking the beans, pour off the water and allow them to air-dry for an hour.

Nursing Class At Jameson Hospital Give Scholarship

Presentation Will Be Made As Memorial To Class Which
Graduates This Year

Initial steps to help alleviate the critical shortage of nurses were taken this week as the class of 1948, Jameson Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, decided to present their school with a scholarship of $100 as a memorial to their class.

"Our members decided upon the scholarship to help ease the critical shortage of nurses in the county," said Miss Agnes Baker, president of the class.

"Only those who have been ill during this critical time can fully appreciate the need of additional nursing personnel."

"Lives can be lost through this shortage and we who have worked during this period know only too well the seriousness of such a situation. We, in this community, have been lucky that we have not had an epidemic to face."

"Our members hope other groups will contribute scholarships so deserving girls can have this fine opportunity for nurses' training."

Mrs. Jane Geiger, the director of the school of nursing, said the scholarship will cover the entrance fees and books for the three years' course for two girls.

The recipient will be chosen on a basis of their need, their scholastic records in high school and personal references. Mrs. Geiger said the recipients will be announced in August. The school will open September 5th.

state of Missouri. On the way back, he stopped at Reelfoot Lake in Tennessee to dedicate a TVA dam. It was there that he held an impromptu press conference and issued out the statement that we intended to keep the atomic bomb no matter what the rest of the world said. This off-hand statement caused the most profound repercussions in every foreign capital.

Those days, it may be argued, are long since gone. But the president will have to exercise the utmost skill and caution to avoid such errors. It is a restraint imposed on the man in the president's office, while those who are contending for it are free to say pretty much what they please when they please.

COLLEGE CENTENNIAL

HARRISBURG—Gov. James H. Duff has issued a proclamation designating May 20 as Girard College Centennial Day to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the opening of school founded by Stephen Girard.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

of Warsaw, as well as that against Berlin, was deliberately held up to enable the Russian hordes to occupy the nations later to be swept into the Soviet orbit. This, he related to our shame, was accomplished with the sanction of our own political and military authorities.

Did Not Lessen Appetite

Defeat of Germany did not lessen the Stalin appetite for conquest, but only whetted it. As a reward for five days' "war" against Japan—consisting of a bloodless march through Manchuria—he received the Kuriles, half of Sakhalin, rule over the northern half of Korea, and hundreds of millions in loot from Manchuria. He now blocks peace with Japan and the formation of an independent government in Korea.

During all this long series of aggressive maneuvers, our government has offered successful opposition in only three instances of importance. We stopped a probable raid on Iran oil. We helped to block the demand on Turkey for control of the Dardanelles. We thus far have frustrated the attempt to establish a Communist regime in Greece.

In the meantime, the Soviet record in the United Nations has been one of persistent obstruction, chiefly through use of the veto. There is no reconciliation of the charter of that organization with the practices or plans of the Russian dictatorship.

Futile Tyring

This rather long record is called at this time with the thought in mind that almost three years of futile trying should convince us of the impossibility of reaching an honest understanding with the Soviets; the fundamental differences seem to be insuperable. The record also is recalled on the theory that the same aggressive expansion course of these past three years is practically certain to continue—unless some other means than argument are invoked. It is consistent to expect that sooner or later the same tactics will be used against Sweden, Norway and Denmark that have been used in Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Finland. Can the United Nations avail in such a contingency? There is nothing to justify such expectation. Can the Marshall Plan stop the march of Communism with dollars? Recent experiences hardly warrant the hope. Short of direct action by the United States, the most hopeful idea for resisting further Russian lies in an economic and military alliance of the remaining nations of Europe, with the door open to others to risk resistance, backed to the limit by the United States.

In the meantime, it might indicate a revival of the old-time American spirit if some voice could be lifted in Washington definitely warning the Red dictatorship that further violations of the proclaimed principles for which we fought the war—freedom and justice for all peoples—will be regarded as an unfriendly act and justify the prompt severance of diplomatic relations. Three more years of unopposed Russian expansion may find us facing a Communist world practically alone.

Famous Pittsburgh Oysterman Is Dead

PITTSBURGH, May 13.—(INS)—Funeral services were planned today for James Marshall, the oysterman, who served three generations of Pittsburghers for more than half a century.

Known as "Jim, the Oysterman" to hundreds of patrons, the 90-year-old chief died Tuesday after a long illness. He had retired about six years ago.

It is estimated that he opened millions of oysters and served them to many prominent people. Among, as he would say, "my bosom pals," were the musicians Victor Herbert and Emil Powell, and members of the Mellon, Heinz and other famous Pittsburgh families.

During the month of April, 1948, there was a 27 per cent decrease or 17 fewer deaths than in April last year, the totals being 45 last month against 62 in April 1947. State police reports available to date show 41 fatalities in January this year and 74 in the same month last year. February, 1948, saw 62 deaths against 49 in 1947, while 67 were killed in March, 1948, with 54 deaths during the same period last year.

G. I.'s Train In Many Occupations VA Office Reports

PHILADELPHIA, May 12. — (INS)—World War II veterans today are training in hundreds of different occupation fields under the GI Bill of Rights, it was reported by the Philadelphia Veterans Administration.

One out of five is preparing for a career in business administration and other general business fields, the VA said.

A similar number is training for engineering and mechanical occupations, it added, while nearly a tenth is following agricultural pursuits.

The occupational fields listed cover training courses of 2,000,000 veterans studying in schools and colleges and 546,000 training on-the-job as of November 30, 1947.

More than 311,000 veterans were enrolled in business administration and other courses, the VA report revealed. Engineering was second choice with 252,000 students enrolled. Agriculture, with 223,000 was third. Eighty-five thousand former service men and women were preparing for teaching careers.

Of the veteran-students enrolled in colleges and universities when the survey was made, 287,000 in liberal arts courses had not reported their major courses of study, the VA reported.

Among veterans taking job training, nearly 94,000 were getting experience as mechanics and repairmen. About 77,000 were training in business courses while 69,000 were learning to be managers. About 44,000 were learning the trade of metal workers. Nearly 41,000 were in electrical courses, according to the survey.

Geneva Science Hall Addition Will Be Opened

BEAVER FALLS, May 13.—Geneva will welcome one of its most loyal sons Friday as the College observes the formal opening of the $125,000 Science Hall addition.

The ceremonies will honor William H. Coverdale of New York City, a graduate of 1891, whose $30,000 gift made possible the purchase of the modern scientific equipment for the structure.

Dr. Alan Valentine, president of Rochester University, will be the speaker at a dinner scheduled for the McKee Hall dining room at 6:30 o'clock.

Following the dinner, the plaque will be unveiled dedicating the equipment as a memorial to Mrs. Fanny O'Neill Coverdale, the donor's mother. A tour of the building will then be made.

Urge Insecticide Purchases Early

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(INS)—The Agriculture Department advised farmers and home gardeners today to buy insecticides early to escape the effects of possible short supplies of some materials near the end of the growing season.

The department forecast that rotenone, most of which is imported, the new product benzene hexachloride, and nicotine compounds are likely to be short of demands later this year.

Officials pointed out that early orders will help suppliers anticipate demands. Basic ingredients and facilities for manufacture and marketing are said to be adequate to meet most needs provided this information is available in advance.

Solution To Aid Children's Teeth From Fast Decay

PITTSBURGH, May 13.—(INS)—Tooth decay in children can be reduced by as much as 40 per cent, a U. S. public health service expert declared.

Dr. Francis A. Arnold, Jr., told 500 dentists gathered in Pittsburgh that experimental treatments on school children had reduced cavities by as much as 40 per cent.

The new formula, according to Dr. Arnold, is a two per cent sodium fluoride solution which is painted on children's teeth after they have been cleaned. The solution makes children's teeth more solid and resistant to decay. A minimum of four treatments about a week apart would last about four years.

Chaffer On Leave From Army Air Corps

Wayne L. Chaffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Chaffer of 926 Warren avenue, New Castle, is home enjoying a 15-day leave from the U. S. Air Force.

Wayne who was enlisted in the U. S. Air Force by Cpl. Pete A. Colia one of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiters in January, completed his basic training at the indoctrination division, Air Training Command, San Antonio, Texas on March 28, 1948. Upon completion of basic training he was promoted to Private First Class and sent to a technical school on control tower operation, this school qualified him for the control of aircraft traffic operating on approaching, or departing from a landing area. Training also included the proper procedures for preventing accidents and delays, instrument flight control, receiving and sending International Morse code and radio telephone procedure.

After Wayne completes his 15-day leave he will be en route to Hamilton Field, Calif., where he will receive 4 to 6-weeks of air combat training.

School Children's Dog Is Returned

Safety Director Dick Davis is a "king" in the opinion of Peggy and Edward Callahan, ages 10 and 6, respectively, of Knox avenue.

Here's why: Each morning when they go to school, their pet dog, Giner, follows them to the bus in West Washington street.

Monday the dog trailed the children who got on the bus. However, after it left, the city dog-catcher caught the dog.

Tuesday the children remained from school and hunted the dog. Hearing of the situation Director Davis contacted Lieutenant Suber of the police bureau.

Suber visited the dog pound and immediately the dog-catcher returned the pet to the Callahan children.

State Counties Prepared For Any Type Of Disaster

County Coordinators Mobilize Relief Agencies To Meet Catastrophes

HARRISBURG, May 12.—(INS)—Each of Pennsylvania's 67 counties is prepared to meet nearly any type of disaster.

Forests and Waters Secretary M. F. Draemel, chairman of the governor's Emergency Disaster committee, gives county coordinators the credit for mobilization of local relief agencies to meet catastrophe. The disaster committee, through State Police Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm, state coordinator, alerts county coordinators when disaster threatens any area in Pennsylvania.

County coordinators put in motion a detailed prepared plan activating local relief groups and committees to handle evacuations, injuries, food and water supplies and to combat major fires and the possible spread of disease, Draemel said.

Although usually appointed by county commissioners, duties of county coordinators are "purely honorary and voluntary," he explained.

With the federal-state flood forecasting system an integral part of the disaster committee, coordinators are enabled to prepare for floods several days in advance. Draemel pointed out.

In addition to flood duty, they also are prepared to cope with tornadoes, fires and train wrecks, he added.

County coordinators included are:

Lawrence, Sheriff Frank Coen, New Castle; Lebanon, Major Harry D. Case; Lebanon, Lehigh, General F. D. Beary; Allentown; Luzerne, Robert Lloyd, Ashley; Mercer, Frank B. Poulton, Sharon; Mifflin, James A. Kenler; Lewistown; Montgomery, E. Russell Matz, Hatfield; Northampton, Chester E. Rogers, Easton.

Dr. Willis E. Pratt Takes Indiana Post

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(INS)—Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas today said Gov. James H. Duff has approved the appointment of Dr. Willis E. Pratt of Pennsylvania State college as president of Indiana State Teachers college.

Pratt, head of the Penn State education department, succeeds the late Dr. Joseph M. Uhler. The position carries a $7500 annual salary.

Pratt previously served as assistant superintendent and superintendent of Erie county schools and as president of the Mansfield State teachers college. He is a graduate of Allegheny college and holds master's and doctor's degrees from the University of Pittsburgh.

State Fruit Crop Better Than 1947

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(INS)—The outlook for Pennsylvania's 1948 fruit crop was described today as "very good and considerably better than last year" by Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst.

Freezing temperatures during April affected nearly all fruits except pears, Horst said. Cherry orchards suffered the greatest damage and losses in other fruits were limited to scattered areas, he added.

Apples generally are in excellent condition and peaches had a heavy bloom.

Sweet cherries in Erie county, held promise of a good crop but elsewhere will be in short supply because of late frost injury.

Eat More Shad, Government Urges

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(INS)—The government wants people to eat more shad and federal publicity men are busy giving the bony creatures a first-class build up in public relations. For example:

The interior department, fresh from a tour of Atlantic coast fish markets, advertised shad today as a sure-fire way to beat high food prices.

And housewives better hurry with their purchases, the department added, because "the catch has been steadily decreasing during the past 40 years."

Airports Undergo Spring Cleaning

HARRISBURG, May 12.—(INS)—The airport business today is engaged in spring house-cleaning.

With the usual spring increase in private flying, airport operators are replacing faded and tattered wind socks, repainting and replacing boundary markers, slapping fresh coats of paint on buildings, repairing hanger foundations and reseeding sod landing fields.

The severe winter wore hard on sodded areas of small airports while the thaws and rains subjected landing areas to a harsh beating from airplane wheels in landings and takeoffs, it was reported by the State Aeronautics commission. "Most airports have areas that need to be reseeded every spring," the commission said, "and at small airports that usually is done by hand."

An unidentified operator inaugurated a "short-cut" method of sowing by seeding from his plane at low altitude from a bag attached below the fuselage. "The practice is not recommended to inexperienced pilots," the commission said.

Many good pianos have been damaged by moths in the fells. The vacuum cleaner attachments, if used carefully, will prevent this

Security Move Meets Approval Of Sec. Marshall

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Secretary of State Marshall on Wednesday endorsed the Vandenberg resolution which would pave the way to the United States entering a security agreement with the bloc of Western European nations.

The proposal sponsored by Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., would encourage the United States to participate in any foreign regional security agreement drawn up in accordance with the United Nations charter.

Says U. S. Should Join

John Foster Dulles, meanwhile told the House Foreign Affairs committee that the United States should join with other free nations in a "collective self-defense association."

The Republican foreign affairs spokesman said that such an association is permissible and practical under the UN charter.

Vandenberg said his resolution has "no relation to a military alliance" as such. But he emphasized that if the evolution of regional arrangements under the charter produced such a need, that would be considered when it developed.

"It might well develop a regional arrangement in Western Europe which we might be glad to supplement."

Three Tests

He further said: "No one can spell out the prospect of regional arrangements until those involved create their own. When they do, they are tested by us . . . and then under those circumstances we are prepared to consider supplemental cooperation the situation may require."

The three "tests" in the resolution are self-help, mutual aid and matters affecting the national security of the United States.

Vandenberg said he thought the resolution would be a "great encouragement" because "it underscores for the first time the utility of these four sections of the UN charter in respect to collective security."

School Board Fails To Decide

Tie Vote On Proposal For Creating New Position In School System

JUNIOR 'VARSITY' TEAM IS PLANNED

Failure to secure a majority vote defeated a proposal before the New Castle school board Wednesday night to create the position of supervisor of elementary education. The vote was a tie, four to four. One member, A. C. Hyde, is in the hospital with a broken arm and was not present at the meeting.

The proposal to establish a supervisor of elementary education was introduced by Director Wilbur E. Flannery. A rather lengthy discussion took place upon the merits of the idea and upon vote the motion did not obtain.

"Jayvee" Football
The board decided to start junior varsity football in the senior high school. A coach will be selected from among the men in the system capable of coaching. The salary will be $300. This coach, to be known as a third assistant football coach, will also aid in the preparation of the varsity team.

Howard M. Burr was re-elected treasurer of the New Castle school district and of the athletic funds. His salary was placed at $1050.

Permission was granted by the board for an all city religious service at Taggart stadium on July 4, opening the Sesquicentennial.

Football Game Prices
The schedule of prices for the football season was discussed and the prices established a year ago will remain. The prices run from 35 cents for students' general admission and $1.50 for a season ticket, to $1 for adults' reserved seats up to $12 for a season ticket under the covered portion of the steel stadium.

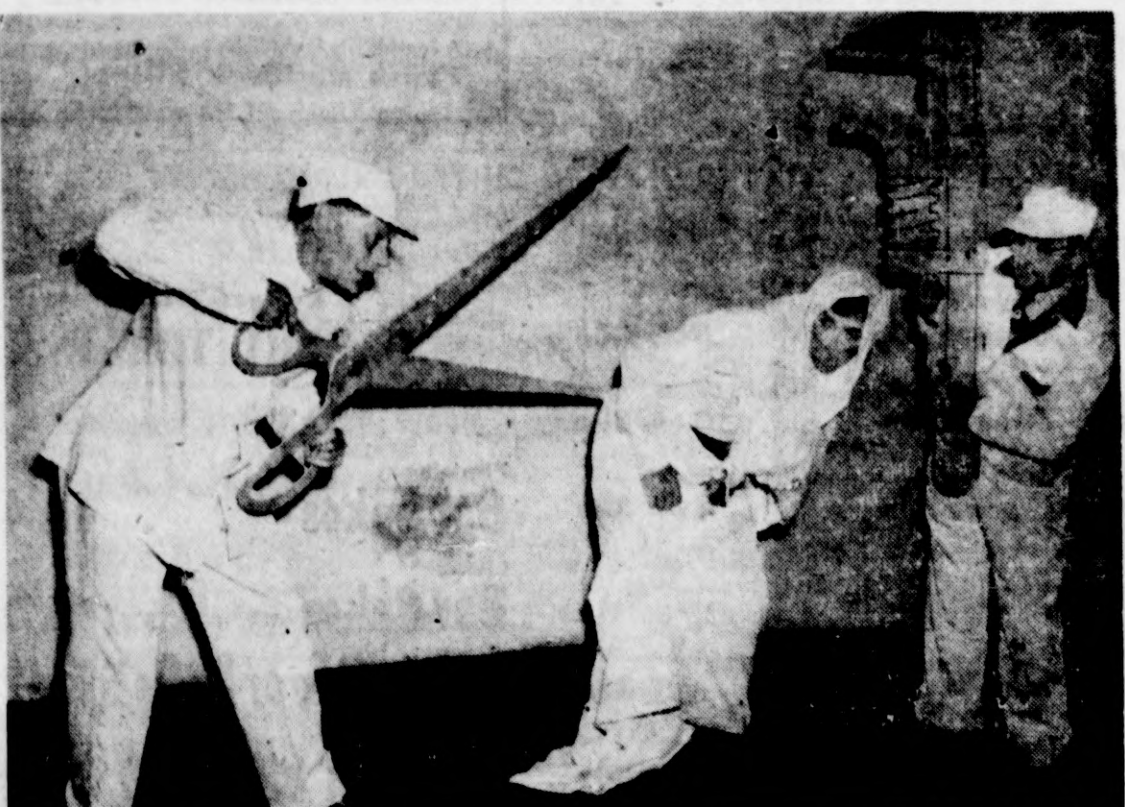

Football tickets this season will be sold from the administration building on East street.

A contract was awarded the Globe Printing company for tickets for the season at a total price of $1417.90.

The proposed "earned income tax" will be threshed out at a special meeting called for May 19.

The island of Formosa, a Japanese colony for nearly 50 years before Pearl Harbor, is a little larger than Massachusetts and Connecticut combined.

"Ghost" Of New Castle Is Driven Off

In pageantry, the "Ghost of New Castle" was driven off last night during the GNCA banquet at The Cathedral. The workmen with the wrench and shears did a good job of getting rid of the spectre. Each person attending the Birthday party of the GNCA was given a piece of the "Ghost's" sheet as a souvenir of New Castle's return to prosperity.

SO HERE IT IS AGAIN, THAT INSPECTION TIME

Like most folks you probably have forgotten that the inspection period is on again. But it is and it expires July 31. You'll find it is good business to have your car inspected early and this isn't a bit too early.

Before you get started on summer driving why not bring your car in and have it inspected?

Unity-Peace To Start At "Home" Says Philosopher

Home Life Is Important To Children; Responsibilities Lie In The American Home

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., May 13. (INS)—The American home must be the starting point for the promotion of world unity and lasting peace, Dr. Charles Hendel, chairman of the Yale University philosophy department, declared at the annual Wilson college honors convention.

To achieve international understanding the coming generation must be taught to deal with other peoples without prejudice and to have a sense of obligation toward their own nation and the world, Dr. Hendel said. That teaching can best be done in the home, he held, since moral attitudes are largely determined in childhood.

Children should learn in the home "what justice is, how liberty must respect rights, that the color, the breeding, the race, the religion, only mark accidental differences, and that differences anyhow make no difference in inner worth," Dr. Hendel asserted.

"A whole renovation of our own habits of thought, speech, and conduct in familiar life is necessary to teach that lesson so that it will be believed," he added.

Declaring "Nothing in the world today is more important than this home life," Dr. Hendel said:

"We do not need first to persuade Russia to give up the veto nor to create an international organization nor to secure legislation against discrimination to do what we ought in our generation. Our responsibility begins at and in the home."

gathered for the forthcoming 1948 Municipal Yearbook, the association reports that for cities over 10,000 population the average police salary increased 23 per cent in the past three years. The number of police per unit population

Dayton Attends

Host To Western Pennsylv-

L. C. Dayton, county agent of Lawrence county, was one of the group of county agents of sixteen Western Pennsylvania counties who were guests of the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh at a dinner meeting held in the Roosevelt Hotel, Monday evening, May 10.

The meeting was held for the purpose of acquainting the county agricultural agents with the study of agricultural development in the sixteen-county Pittsburgh area just now being conducted by the Pennsylvania State College under the sponsorship of the Allegheny Conference on Community Development and the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh.

C. L. Rumbarger, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Agricultural Committee, outlined the aims, objectives and possible uses of the study. An outline of the survey was presented by D. C. Kimmel of the Pennsylvania State College, who is in charge of the project.

Farmers Benefit
By Warm Weather

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(INS)—Summer-like weather has been "a great boon" to Pennsylvania farmers, it was reported today by Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst.

Warm weather will improve winter grains and give farmers an opportunity to plant the 1948 corn crop on schedule, he said.

Favorable conditions resulted in an upward revision in the state's wheat crop estimate, according to Horst. The crop is now estimated at 21,208,000 bushels, an increase of approximately 300,000 bushels over the April 1 estimate.

Despite temperatures which ranged between extremes of 27 and 88 degrees and an abnormal rainfall, Pennsylvania farmers made steady progress during the past week, the department said. Spring work was reported further advanced than at a similar time last year.

Aviation Cadets Will Be Assigned For Active Duty

Men Who Qualify In Stepped-Up
Air Program Will Be Given
Regular Commissions

M-Sgt. Charles P. Walsh of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station stated that he has received information from the U. S. Air Force today announcing that henceforth certain selected distinguished cadets of each aviation cadet graduating class will be appointed second lieutenants in the regular air force. Aviation cadet graduates regularly are commissioned second lieutenants in the USAF Reserve, and may qualify for regular air force commissions while on extended active duty.

A distinguished aviation cadet is a graduate designated by the commanding general of the air training command who:

Possesses outstanding qualities of military leadership, high moral character and definite aptitude for the military service.

Has distinguished himself either academically or by demonstrated leadership through his accomplishments while participating in recognized cadet activities.

Has a current standing among the upper third of his class in flying, academic and military performance.

Up to five per cent of each aviation cadet graduating class will be offered regular air force commissions under this program.

Approximately 440 aviation cadets, exclusive of commissioned officers, will graduate from pilot training during the remainder of 1948, 250 in June and 190 in October.

For further information see the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting station, located in the post office, New Castle, Pa.

There were about 175,000 licensed physicians in the United States in 1940 compared with 120,000 in 1900.

Egg Production Slids Downward

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(INS)—Milk production showed effects of the seasonal trend during April when it soared to 479,000,000 pounds, but egg production slid-ded downward due to decreased flocks. It was reported today by the state agriculture department.

April's milk production was five per cent greater than the preceding month, but 1,000,000 pounds under April, 1947, the department said. Output per cow on May 1 averaged 20.4 pounds, the highest for that date since 1945.

Pennsylvania farm flocks produced 328,000,000 eggs during April, approximately 5,000,000 fewer than the preceding month but 15,000,000 more than April 1947. The number of layers averaged 17,828,000, approximately seven per cent below the March average.

Publicly controlled U. S. federal schools for Indians spent $10,000,000 in 1940.

Jobless Payments To Be Speeded Up

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(INS)—Director A. J. Caruso of the bureau of employment and unemployment compensation today announced the agency has devised a system to speed up payment of unemployment benefits to jobless Pennsylvanians.

Applicants will now receive their checks from two to three days earlier than previously, Caruso explained.

The new system will enable the bureau to mail checks directly to claimants, eliminating the present delay caused by distribution thru local offices, he said.

"This plan will also give relief to local offices and they will no longer be required to provide the elaborate protection system that the old plan required," he explained.

More deaths from heart disease occur among urban people than in the rural population.

Paradise For Fishermen To Open On May 21

HARRISBURG, May 13.—Pennsylvania's famous "Fisherman's Paradise" located on Spring Creek near Bellefonte in Center county will be open for the 1948 season from Friday, May 21 and to July 24 inclusive, except Sundays when the Paradise is closed.

Fishing will officially begin at 8:00 a.m., Eastern Standard Time. There is no special license required to fish the "Paradise," fishermen 16 years and over must have a resident fisherman's license and must personally register in and out. Anglers are allowed to visit the project five times during the season and while the thrill of catching big fish will be the order of the day, only one fish may be killed in any single day visit. This new regulation was made necessary because of the ever increasing cost of operating this project. The fisherman is restricted to the use of artificial hair or feather flies or lures with barbless hooks or hooks from which the barb has been removed. Spoons, spinners or swivels are prohibited and wading the stream, for any purpose, is not permitted. Fish caught foul must be returned to the water and assistance in hooking or landing fish is not allowed. Only fish ten inches or longer taken from the large stream may be killed while the size limit on the adjoining small stream is seven inches. "Fisherman's Paradise" is the fisherman's dream come true. Here under exacting restrictions, one may tie into the largest trout, brook, brown or rainbow to be found anywhere in Pennsylvania. Barbless hook, no wading, no assistance and the thrills of a lifetime are realized.

The rules and regulations will be prominently posted and each angler will be given a printed card bearing these regulations. There can be no mistake or reason for any type of violation.

Check weight before and while following the Meltoway Plan. If not satisfied with the results, return empty bottle and your money will be refunded. Start this test today.

Medical Science has found . . .

that excess weight contributes greatly to many ills . . . and that a person who is overweight is much more apt to suffer from general ill health and lack of vitality than a person of normal weight. In many instances . . . loss of unnecessary pounds has helped improve health. With the loss of excess pounds and unsightly bulges, the person who suffered from an overweight condition looks better, feels better, and "takes a new lease on life."

Begin with Good Grooming . . . Say Fashion Editors

Good-grooming starts with a neat figure, slim waist, smooth hips, with no bulges to mar the lovely lines of the new designs. A good figure can always show off important fashion trends to the best advantage. The dowdy figure is unable to keep up with fashion, especially the nipped-in-waist, brief-jackets and hip drop-ings of the "new look." Trim down your figure easily, safely with the new Meltoway Reducing Plan and change with fashion.

Forty and Attractive

The years are kind to the woman who keeps slim and avoids unattractive bulges. A woman of forty can wear the latest styles, can achieve that "New Look" . . . be smart, well-groomed . . . if she "keeps her figure." Romance can be hers . . . and admiration . . . with a slim, youthful appearance. A trim figure can be achieved by any woman, regardless of age, with the Meltoway Reducing Plan.

State Employment Continues Better In Month Of April

HARRISBURG, May 13.—Employment opportunities continued to improve in Pennsylvania during April for the fourth straight month, it was reported today by the State Employment Service. The agency reported 11,100 men and 8,060 women were placed in jobs in the state last month. Openings for men appeared as the result of the springtime spurt in the construction industry, the service reported. Wholesale and retail trade, service occupations and metals and machinery manufacturing industries were next in affording job opportunities. Room for women placements was made by service businesses, wholesale and retail trade, garment plans and textile manufacturers, according to the employment agency. Total placements exceeded those of March by 1340 and those of April, 1947, by 2090, the service said.

Stiff Regulations For Operation Of Pin Ball Machines

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 13. (INS)—If the Ventnor City Council ordinance on pin ball machines is finally passed, the sport will shape up as one of the "healthiest" in the town. The bill is to "insure the health and safety" of persons playing the pinball machines, but council is trying to make it so tough for operators that few machines may be available. The ordinance provides: 1. There must be at least 10,000 square feet of floor space for each machine. 2. There must be seamless floor covering so that the floor can be washed at least once a day with a germicide solution. 3. The place must have at least four exits; all machines must be visible from the sidewalk, and there must be separate rest room facilities for men and women players. The maximum penalty for each offense is a $200 fine, 90 days in jail or both. If the operators can comply with the provisions of the law, council says go ahead and operate the pin ball machines.

In 1683 William Penn is said to have paid $468 for a pound of coffee during a trip to New York.

Many Knotty Problems In Path Of Any Effort To Conclude 'Cold War'

By JAMES LEE
(N. Y. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Experts in international relations pointed out today that some of the knottiest problems in the history of diplomacy would confront United States and Russian representatives seeking to end the "cold war."

Officials in Washington were frankly optimistic at the Soviet Union's favorable reception of the American proposal for amicable discussion of the problems threatening to split east and west into two vast armed camps.

But they warned that the agenda for any such parley would necessarily include matters as tough for the dove of peace to penetrate as the Iron Curtain itself.

The experts agree that first and foremost among the tough nuts to be cracked is the rigid Russian policy of political and economic isolation.

So carefully has Moscow integrated her politics and economy with those of her satellites that fitting those elements into the world picture would require solution of an international jigsaw puzzle of the first magnitude.

And that is only the initial problem. Matters for the agenda of a U. S.-Russia, or, more properly, American-Soviet-French-British conference, literally would encompass the globe.

Main issues would include:

1. Activities of communism and the related world drive to make Communism supreme in all countries and particularly in Latin America.
2. Re-creation of Germany as an economic and political whole so that she may play her traditional part in European affairs.
3. Drafting of peace treaties for Germany and Austria a task which previous Big Four conferences have failed to accomplish.
4. Settlement of the Korean question, the most troublesome problem in the Far East.
5. The Soviet attitude toward the Marshall plan which has been one of obstructionism and sabotage.
6. The problem of the United Nations where Russia repeatedly has used the veto to the point where substantial sentiment has developed for elimination of the veto provision. This would involve also Russian cooperation on arms and atomic energy control.

Spring Food Notes

Sing a song of welcome to the thrifty shopper of quality foods and you can buy it at the lowest price at Brenneman's.

Well that's what they all say but what I mean is we all have certain desires such as to survive, to eat, to be loved, to be important, but with this we all acquire a desire to eat food that is delicious.

Why saw—saw, push, tug and cuss your meats, when you can buy Tender Cut Meat. You will notice the gravy of our Tender Cut Meat if accidentally dropped can be picked up and used for shoe string.

Don't fail to meet Mr. Chop Chop who puts the seamless pockets in your pork chops and without a squeal.

You, Mrs. Housewife, can save where everything is so handy, so tender, so good and so low priced.

Oh! such wonderful buys. California wonder solid, firm green peppers, 2 lbs. for 25c. Start the day off with your lemon juice but get more juice from California Sunkist lemons, large size, 10 for 39c. The very best in Pascal celery hearts, plenty tough and stringy, but freshly picked every day, 2 large bunches for 25c.

Your grocer is not throwing potatoes away to keep the price up so for economy have some home grown, medium sized potatoes at 55c pk. You will not complain of their being too large.

Oranges don't come any better than Sunkist seedless navels at the peak of their flavor; medium size; low price of 33c doz. Red ripe Tomatoes, lb., 25c.

Canned Peas are plentiful and extra good when they are Golden Dawn, 20-oz. can, 2 for 29c or 4 for 55c. Watermelons, vine ripened, extra sweet, lb., 5c.

Have a whole half gallon of dill pickles selling at only 39c. Brand, Golden Dawn.

I don't want to save your money—it's yours, spend it or hide it where you please.

If it's apricots don't be cut short. When you need a can California halves in syrup, 2 lb. cans, 39c; 4 for 75c, 30-oz. can.

Scientific Color Brain Developed By Glass Company

PITTSBURGH, May 13.—(INS)—A scientific color brain, accurate to within one-half of one per cent, has been developed by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.

According to Director of Research S. Frank Cox, the new instrument photo-electrically records response, sensitivity and discrimination characteristics of the human eye.

The instrument is said to measure color differences with greater accuracy than the human eye and divides the total reflected light to give comparisons in terms of percentage reflectance, regardless of illumination level or color density. The "color eye" will fill the need in the textile world, paint manufacturing and numerous industrial applications where color matching has been almost solely dependent on the skillful use of the human eye.

May Use X-Rays In Cancer Fight

CHICAGO, May 13.—(INS)—Mass X-ray surveys, such as are now used to fight tuberculosis, may be the weapon with which to combat stomach cancer.

The plan was proposed yesterday by Dr. Leo Rigler, head of the Department of Radiology and Physical Therapy of the University of Minnesota School of Medicine.

Dr. Rigler declared in a paper read before the 108th annual convention of the Illinois State Medical Society that stomach cancer frequently can be cured by surgery—if caught early enough.

He asserted that X-ray examinations are the only practical method for early diagnosis of the disease.

SERVE CHEESE TO CHILDREN

Mild-flavored cheeses are usually popular with the younger members of the family. Most children like cheese in sandwiches, in luncheon and dinner dishes, and for between-meal snacks.

Cheese is a good food for children because it helps furnish protein, calcium and riboflavin. Whole milk cheeses are a good source of vitamin A.

Cottage cheese in small amounts is suitable for children 18 months old, while a cheddar or processed cheese may be blended with white sauce for children of two years and older. Children past three years of age enjoy nibbling a small piece of cheese.

Since cheese is a concentrated food, it blends well with cereal foods, such as bread, crackers, or macaroni products. Many cheese dishes intended for adults are so highly seasoned that they will not appeal to or be good for children. Recipes may be adapted for children's meals by omitting spices and strong flavors. Cheese could be served to children in a sauce for cooked vegetables, in custards, timbales, fondues, and baked dishes. Sandwich fillings and spreads for crackers are pleasing to the children. Cottage cheese may be served plain or with fruit or vegetable salads. Here is a recipe for cheese fondue:

Cheese Fondue
(4 servings)
1 cup scalded milk
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 pound cheese (1 cup),
cut in pieces
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks
3 egg whites

Add the bread crumbs, cheese, butter, and seasonings to the scalded milk in the top of a double boiler. Remove from the stove; stir in the unbeaten egg yolks, cut and fold into the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish; bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 30 to 45 minutes or until firm in the center. The mixture is done when it does not stick to the tip of a knife inserted in the center. Serve immediately.

Former Dishwasher Now Owner Of Town

LANGLOTH, Pa. — (INS) — "I don't want to be mayor, I just want to own the town."

That statement became a reality for a man who migrated to this country 36 years ago and started life as a dishwasher.

Gus Barbush, who says "it could only happen in this country," bought Langloth, with a population of some 3,000 residents, for $200,000.

Langloth, which was well on the way to becoming a "ghost town" due to the closing of the American Zinc and Chemical plant, now has high hopes of avoiding its destined fate.

Gus has plans for establishing a new industry to move into the empty plant and also wants to build a baseball diamond for residents.

Gus, who at various times washed dishes, owned a store, restaurant, and hotel, says with a smile: "My plan is to run a good town."

Harvard Alumni To Have Meeting

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—(INS)—Hundreds of Harvard university alumni from all parts of the country will converge on Philadelphia tomorrow for the annual meeting of the associated Harvard clubs.

Some 800 members of 100 Harvard clubs from as many cities will attend the three-day meeting featuring discussions on education, government, medicine, law, finance and industry.

Among scheduled speakers are Dr. James B. Conant, Harvard president, and Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, wartime chief of the army service forces.

Advocates Planned Economy In Nation

PITTSBURGH, May 13.—(INS)—A firm government planned economy was advocated today by economist Robert R. Nathan as the only means of holding off a major depression and the collapse of the free enterprise system.

Nathan told a meeting of the Pittsburgh chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants Wednesday night, that as long as prices are determined by what people will pay and not by costs, this country is in for another "bust."

Urges Planning
Nathan says it may come within six months or a year, depending on "how long the war scare lasts."

He said: "Another depression like 1929-32, and we can write off the free enterprise system. Socialism and Communism, no longer theories but strong competition, will move in and take over."

The only answer to the problem, according to Nathan, is government planning that provides an "environment" for balancing prices, wages and profits.

Uncle Sam imported 1663 tons of dried figs in 1946-47 and 921 tons of these came from Turkey.

TIN PANS

If you have tin pans in your household equipment, don't scour them to brightness. Scouring soon rubs through the thin coating of tin and leaves the metal underneath subject to rust. Tin baking pans absorb the heat better when the are dull.

Family Loyalty—A Fine Way Of Life

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

Ruth and Naomi.

"Intreat me not to leave thee . . . for whither thou goest, I will go . . . My people shall be thy people, and thy God my God."—Ruth 1:16.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE MOTHER-IN-LAW JOKE
—and its endless variations—is one of the oldest wheezes in the drab history of alleged humor. It pictures the mother-in-law as a selfish, unreasonable, jealous harpy—the source of misunderstandings between the young married couple.

In actuality, to millions of happy women the mother-in-law and daughter-in-law relationship is a very real and fine thing, with the older and younger women gaining a deep understanding which blossoms into life-long affection. The life together of Ruth and Naomi is the classic example of such a relationship.

The Biblical story of Ruth and Naomi exemplifies the spirit of two affectionate and fine women whose first thoughts were not of themselves but of each other. It is one mother-in-law story that is splendid and inspiring.

Naomi was a Jewish woman who, with her husband and two sons, had left her native land and gone to Moab, an ancient country situated on a plateau on the eastern shore of the Dead Sea. The Moabites were Semitic, with a language much like that of the Hebrews. It was a time of famine in Israel when Naomi's family migrated to this country and stayed there.

Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died, and the sons, Mahlon and Chilion, married Moabite women. Then both sons died, leaving Naomi widowed and childless. Naomi decided that she would return to her old home, and her two daughters-in-law, Ruth and Orpah, went with her until Naomi told them to return to their mothers' homes, saying, "The Lord deal kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead, and with me. The Lord grant you that ye may find rest, each of you in the house of her husband."

Naomi kissed her daughters-in-law, they all wept, and the daughters said to her, "Surely we will return with thee into thy people."

Orpah finally turned back, but Ruth pleaded with Naomi not to insist on the younger woman returning to Moab. Ruth's earnest pledge of lifelong loyalty touched the older woman's heart and she consented to bring the widowed girl with her to Israel.

So the two went on together to Bethlehem, and there they caused quite a stir in the town. Old friends asked, "Is this Naomi?" and she answered, "Is this Naomi?" and she answered, "Call me not Naomi (which means Pleasant), call me Mara (which means Bitter)." Then Naomi told them of the loss of her husband and sons.

When Naomi and Ruth came to Judah, it was the barley harvest time, so Ruth suggested that she go into the fields to glean behind the reapers, to get food for the two of them. Naomi had a kinsman named Boaz who was "a mighty man of wealth," we are told, and it was to his field Ruth went.

Boaz saw the young woman and asked his reapers who she was. One man answered that she was the Moabite damsel who had come back with Naomi. Boaz then told Ruth to keep with his young women gleaners, for he had spoken to his reapers and told them not to molest her in any way, and when she was thirsty to drink of the water the men had drawn.

Ruth was so touched by this kindness that she "fell on her face, and bowed herself to the ground" as was the quaint custom of the time, and asked him why he was so kind to her. Boaz said that he had heard of her goodness to her mother-in-law, his kinswoman Naomi, and that the Lord would recompense her. Then he told her that when she was hungry she was to join the reapers at their meal.

Further, he commanded his reapers not only to let her reap, but to leave extra gleanings for to take.

Boaz' interest in Ruth did not rest there. As a relative of Naomi and her late husband, Elimelech, he redeemed a parcel of land that was their inheritance. Finally, he "took her to wife," and in time she bore him a son.

All this time Naomi had lovingly encouraged and advised Ruth in all that she did. When Ruth's child was born, Naomi's cup of happiness was full. She "took the child and laid it in her bosom, and became nurse unto it." Naomi's women friends and neighbors named the baby Obed, and he became the father of Jesse, and grandfather of David, who became king.

YOUR MONEY OR YOUR WIFE

Bandits and robbers cause a lot of trouble.

Disease is the worst bandit of all. Women seem to have more trouble than men do.

A good many women have a lot of trouble after they are 40 years old.

Perhaps the most common of these infirmities are obesity, cancer, disease of the blood vessels and painful feet.

Some of these conditions could possibly be prevented with proper care.

It is a pretty good idea for a woman to have a medical check-up.

Prevention is better than cure and usually less expensive. A fat woman with sore feet and shortness of breath is not very comfortable.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or empty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 80 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Neshannock Twp. Dog Owners Caught

Thirteen Neshannock Township dog owners, who had neglected to procure license for their dogs were caught in a roundup conducted by dog law enforcement agent Howard McLaure, this week, and were taken before Justice of the Peace J. R. Frazer, where informations were made against them.

Mr. McLaure is still continuing his campaign to have all dogs in the county licensed, and will prosecute any who are found neglecting this legal procedure.

He urges dog owners to be considerate of their neighbors and to refrain from allowing dogs to run at large at this season, when gardens are being made, and when dogs can cause considerable annoyance.

IN THE OPEN

The countryman finally accepted the painful truth one day when he could make out only distorted blurs in the telephone book. There was but one thing to do, and that was to bow to the advancing years and be fitted with bifocal lenses. A week or so later, all dressed up in the new "cheaters", he carefully stepped out of the elevator and into the busy sidewalk traffic, doomed thenceforth to lead a double life.

Determined to conquer this fiendish torment in his otherwise placid existence the countryman headed for the woods on the very next day. All went well while driving through the rolling countryside, since only the upper portion of the new specs was involved. When he pulled off the creekside roadway deep in the timberland and stepped from the car—then it was that tribulation reared his ugly head.

Header Into Loam
Just ahead was a low wire barrier; a simple matter of stepping high and he'd be in the woods. As he went to clear this wire he looked down and saw only a blur. It was too late to call back that right foot, which was already under way, and he sprawled ungracefully flat on his face in the damp loam. The racket of this tremendous tumble alerted all the woods folk for a quarter-mile around.

Addressing a few well-chosen remarks to the world in general and one pair of bifocals in particular, the outdoorsman stomped off up the hillside, throwing caution to the wind and stumbling over every piece of wind-fallen debris in his path. A few hundred yards of this blind plunging across ravines and through shin tangling thickets left him sore in body, low in mind and defeated in spirit. He groped his way back to the car, said goodbye forever to the timberland, and took off for home.

Three weeks and several painful episodes later, he still hasn't got the upper hand in this battle of the double vision, but he can at least keep on his feet and is once more able to meet the luring challenge of the wayside trails.

Fellow Odd Path
The weekend came up with a mercury reading in the high 30's and a gusty breeze that drove the chill air through the thickets, grounding nearly all feathered activity. Hoping for a lull in the wind in the late afternoon I followed an old familiar path by the impounding reservoir. The surface of the dam was a rolling mass of breaking whitecaps, roaring a sea-man's chantey as they smashed into the rock ledges at the head of the long pond.

Just as I cleared the approach and came out by the breast of the dam, a green heron sprang up from the edges and soared into the heavy wind. Buoyed up by the air pressure, the crowd-sized fellow hung motionless there for a long moment, and then headed across the hills. Swallows, mostly of the rough-winged variety, were staging an air show above the water. I loafed awhile near a heavy scented wild crabapple grove, and watched these aerial gymnasts course low above the water, then rise straight up against the wind, and finally come scudding back at dizzy speed, pushed by the gusty

Virginia Catchfly
The brilliant fire pink, also known as Virginia catchfly, was blooming on the sunny banks. Purple larkspur has moved into the spotlight on the loamy benches, and I saw the little bishop's cap, a series of tiny white blossoms ascending a lanky stem above a cluster of heart-shaped basal leaves. The waxy white blooms are opening beneath the umbrellas of the May-apple, and first flowers of the Virginia water leaf can be seen in the moist areas.

I crossed through the skunk cabbage swale, now a rank growth with almost tropical vigor, and after wading through several patches of trillium and the ever present bed straw came down to the upper reaches of the reservoir. Here the heavy rains of recent weeks have flooded a normally high and dry willow grove. What appeared to be a turtle was basking in the sun, at least six feet up in one of the willows.

A closer look through the bifocals revealed a good sized snapping turtle, who had climbed to that chosen place in the sun. The willow trunk stood at about a 70 degree slant. The snapper heard me coming and swung that ugly snout around to bring me into his line of vision. I scrambled down to the water's edge some forty feet from him before he took a clumsy step or two down the tree and fell off into the water.

City Employees At Youngstown Given Reprieve

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 13.—(INS)—The 128 Youngstown Municipal workers scheduled to lose their jobs May 16, today had an extra two weeks reprieve.

Mayor Charles P. Henderson said the furlough will instead become effective June 1.

Henderson said he was acting at the request of city council "in order that that council might have two weeks additional time to find ways and means of meeting our operating deficit."

The deficit amounts to almost half-a-million dollars. Electors refused to approve a levy to raise operating funds at the primary recently.

Believes Nation Enters Period Of Stabilization

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(INS)—New York Stock Exchange President Emil Schram told Congress today that unless it "permits the budget to become unbalanced again, we have already entered the postwar period of stabilization."

Schram made the forecast as he opposed further credit control authority for the Federal Reserve Board before the joint congressional economic committee.

He told the legislators also that stock margin requirements—which he said are "clearly discriminatory in the one market that is non-inflated"—should be relaxed as a help to the bond market.

IMPROVING WALK

"Can you help me to develop a graceful walk? I am told that mine is zig-zagging and awkward."

Answer: You must first learn to stand erect and with grace, then maintain that proper equilibrium while walking. With your shoulders back, chest and chin up, raise your diaphragm and your figure will automatically assume its proper poise. Practice before a full-length mirror and note the improvement over your old slump which has probably been giving you a defeatist attitude. To rid yourself of your zig-zagging, walk a straight border on your carpet or a straight crack in the pavement, or merely an imaginary line, but do not carry this practice to an extreme where it may make you walk more self-consciously or like an automaton. If you have short legs, lengthen your stride or if you are long-legged shorten it until you readily keep your step with companions of average height. While standing, keep your knees straight. Avoid the awkwardness of standing on one foot, but if a circumstance arise where one must bear, most of your weight, it should be the forward foot.

Never, never stand with your knees far apart. Such a position is unfeminine and ugly and will ruin the effect of the smartest ensemble.

Question: Please tell me just what the bride's bouquet should be—as to color, kind of flowers, etc.

Answer: If she dresses in a white gown and veil, the bride should carry an arm bouquet of all white flowers. These may be white orchids and lilies of the valley arranged in a shower bouquet. Any other less expensive combination of white flowers will be quite proper—roses, sweet peas, gardenias, lilacs, etc. The bride who wears afternoon clothes and a hat will doubtless prefer an arm bouquet of colored flowers to harmonize with her dress. If she will marry in travelling clothes, she might properly and preferably wear a corsage of any flowers she chooses.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Forty-Five Per Cent Of '47 Corn Crop Is Held By Farmers

Pennsylvania Farmers Hold More Than 20 Million Bushels Of Last Year's Corn Crop

HARRISBURG, May 13.—Stocks of corn still held on Pennsylvania farms on April 1, totaling 20,000,000 bushels, while slightly less than stocks held on the same date a year ago, were about 2,000,000 bushels greater than the 10-year average, 1937-1946, the State Department of Agriculture reports following Federal-State surveys.

The corn stocks represented 45 per cent of the 1947 crop.

Wheat stocks on farms of the State this April 1 at 4,682,000 bushels, or 21 per cent of last year's crop, were better than a million more than a year earlier and well above average. Oats holdings, however, were only 7,151,000 bushels, 36 per cent of the 1947 crop, compared with 12,013,000 on April 1, 1947 and the average of 9,631,000.

Barley holdings at 1,055,000 bushels represented 26 per cent of the 1947 crop, about the same as a year previous. Rye, at 81,000 bushels was 29 per cent of the 1947 crop and 60,000 bushels of soybeans represented 22 per cent of last year's crop compared with 38 per cent and 128,000 bushels a year earlier.

Winter wheat production for this year is estimated at 20,874,000 bushels based on an average yield per acre of 21 bushels compared with 24 bushels per acre in 1947.

products, with several firms making no reductions on similar items cut by big steel, while others slashed their prices by a lesser amount.

In one case, the weekly noted, one steel company made deeper cuts on a few items.

Cuts Not Normal

The magazine observed that had the industry been overproducing and had there been price cutting among various makers because of order scarcity, the price cutting move could be classified as normal. But this was not the case, Iron Age pointed out.

Meanwhile, it noted that the steel supply outlook is not a happy one for the customer with doubt growing that the industry will better the 1947 output of 85 million tons of ingot over the current year.

The steel ingot rate this week was placed at 94 percent of rated capacity, up three points from last week's revised rate of 91 percent.

Gideons To Meet Friday Evening

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Allen of R. D. 3, Beaver Falls, will entertain members of the New Castle Camp of the Gideons on Friday evening, May 14, in their home for the regular monthly meeting of the camp.

During the meeting reports of committees from the State Convention held in New Castle will be given.

Balbriggan is a lightweight, plain-stitch knitted cotton fabric that often has a napped back. Usually it is made in deep cream or light tan colors, and is used for underwear, sweaters, hosiery. The fabric was named for its similarity to an unbleached hosiery fabric made in Balbriggan, Ireland.

Cuts By Steel Not In Unison

NEW YORK, May 13.—(INS)—The magazine Iron Age said today that most large steel firms have met the price-cutting move by U. S. Steel—on a total basis.

It pointed out, however, that the cuts have not been the same on all

Taft To Oppose Training Plan For 18-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(INS)—Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, said today he will fight the Senate proposal for military training of 18-year-olds despite the inclusion of permissive volunteering in the manpower program.

The Senate GOP leader, an opponent of Universal Military Training in any form, said the fact that the draft-training bill now permits trainees to volunteer "doesn't make any difference."

Selective Service experts have informed the Senate Armed Services Committee that the volunteer proviso would make the number of 18-year-olds actually drafted "negligible."

Meanwhile, the threat of a Senate Southern Democratic filibuster against the manpower bill brought a slow-down in the schedule for House action on its straight two-year draft bill. House GOP leaders indicated their 19-through-25 draft bill will not be called up next Tuesday as planned.

There are strong indications that the House leaders will wait now until the Senate has acted on its measure before exposing their members to an election-year vote on the draft.

Measurements of hand strength in 1947 showed that people begin to lose their strength at the age of 25.

Mrs. W. M. Christopher who has been quite ill and returned home from hospital recently was taken to Jameson Memorial at New Castle Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gonick of New Castle visited with their daughter and family, the Dr. G. Zieve Wednesday.

It is stated that 35 per cent of the houses now being built in the United States are being put up on outlying land beyond the reach of municipal water supply and sewage disposal systems. This percentage is expected to double within the next year.

Bill Proposes Registration Of All Aliens In U.S.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Two influential House members today threw their support behind a Senate-enacted bill to compel all aliens in the nation to register with the Justice department.

If enacted into law, aliens would be required to notify the commissioner of immigration and naturalization of their address between July 1 and 10 and every six months thereafter.

Failure to do so would subject the alien to a possible fine of $200 and 30 days in jail. The Justice department, which requested the new legislation, estimated there are three million aliens in the country.

Endorses Legislation

Rep. Fellows (R) Maine, chairman of the House subcommittee on naturalization and immigration, disclosed that his group will meet Friday to consider the bill. Fellows endorsed the legislation and there are indications that the subcommittee might approve it without delay.

Rep. Michener (R) Mich., chairman of the House Judiciary committee, which must act on the subcommittee's recommendation, said he favors enactment. Michener said the committee will meet the following Tuesday to consider the reports of subcommittees. The Justice department requested annual registrations of aliens and was reported to look with disfavor upon the action taken by the Senate in amending the legislation to provide for semi-annual reports because of the work involved in checking them.

BAND TO REHEARSE

After assembling at the Legion home at 7:30 o'clock, they will go to Cunningham Army where they will drill. Parade positions will be assigned to this time.

Weak, Watery Blood Blamed for Making Men and Women Look and Feel Older

THAN THEIR YEARS

How do you feel at the end of a day? Is that old time nap and drive tacking? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Thousands now regaining glowing good looks and vitality through the release of vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a general run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic's formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Seed Certification Deadline May 15

Applications Being Received By State For Inspection Service
During Growing Season

HARRISBURG.—Deadline for applications of Pennsylvania farmers who wish to enter grain acreages for State seed certification during the 1948 season has been set for May 15 by the Bureau of Plant Industry, State Department of Agriculture.

Applications are now being received for State inspection service to be given during the growing season for wheat, oats, winter barley and soybeans. Requests for inspection for certification of hybrid seed corn will be received later, according to K. W. Lauer, principal plant pathologist in charge of State seed certification in the Bureau.

Varieties acceptable for seed certification this season include the following:

Wheat: Nittany, Nured and Thorne. The use of Leap's Proflic will be acceptable but is not recommended.

Winter Barley: Kentucky No. 1, Tennessee Winter and Wong. Oats: Clinton and Mohawk. The use of Beaver, Benton, Cornellian and Patterson varieties will be accepted but not recommended.

Soybeans: Earlyana and Lincoln.

Applicants for state certification inspections are required to give the source of the seed they plant and send a copy of the certification tag with the application, Lauer explained.

The average church member contributes little more than 20 cents a week of his church.

Lack Information On Public Affairs Governor Asserts

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(INS)—The public's lack of information on government affairs was decried last night by Gov. James H. Duff in a brief address to the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters.

"I feel our country faces the most critical situation in history," Duff declared. "What we do in the next two years may affect the course of civilization."

He said the average American citizen was not aware of the changes in the political affairs and the national well-being.

The governor discussed politics only in passing and told his audience that it is the problem of the electorate to decide what the presidential campaign issues are and then to choose "the best candidate to deal with the situation."

John Constable, English artist of the 19th century, is said to be the father of the modern school of painting. He saw that landscape painting is more the problem of light and air, and its effect depends upon the light and shadow in which the objects are seen. He was the first artist to paint the subtle gradations of the atmosphere and to show not only the objects themselves, but how he saw them.

Plan Conferences Seeking To Settle Meat Packing Strike

CHICAGO, May 13.—(INS)—Conferences seeking a settlement in the 59-day-old nationwide meat packing strike are being planned in Chicago today between a new three-member government conciliation group and representatives of the Big Four packers.
The conferences between the federal panel and spokesmen for Swift, Armour, Cudahy and Wilson Packing companies are expected to follow a session held yesterday between government officials and the striking CIO United Packinghouse Workers Union.
Union spokesmen announced yesterday's meeting with government conciliators, but a panel spokesman said his group "cannot make a statement at this time, not even to say we had a meeting."
Between 80,000 and 100,000 Packinghouse workers have been on strike throughout the nation since March 16, following the breakdown of wage negotiations.

Predicts Fuel Oil Will Be Sufficient

PHILADELPHIA, May 13. — (INS)—A Standard Oil Co. official predicted last night that a sufficient supply of fuel oil will be available to domestic consumers during the next heating season.
The prediction was made by Dr. Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the Board of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, before the refining division of the American Petroleum Institute.

Dr. Wilson warned, however, that production would not furnish enough for all consumers if oil burner installations "even approach those of last year."
He said that, barring serious strikes or catastrophes, production of domestic fuel oil should be seven to eight per cent higher this year.

Legion Honors Floor Champs

Winners In Civic-Industrial League Tendered Dinner
By Gaston Post

Gathering in a North Jefferson street restaurant Wednesday evening, members of the championship Perry S. Gaston Post team, which won the Civic-Industrial Basketball league title last winter were tendered a banquet by the Gaston Post.

Manning Weller served as toastmaster, handing this assignment in a capable manner. The principal speaker was Sheriff Frank L. "Jewie" Coen, who recounted the history and development of basketball here, and of some of his experiences as a baseball player in various leagues in which he played. All this was done in Coen's usual witty style, which kept the players and their wives and girl friends in stitches.

Champs Given Praise
Other remarks were given by A. Wesley Mann, athletic chairman of the Gaston Post, and Commander Joseph Solomon, both of whom praised the team for their fine showing, which brought them to the top of the heap, under the capable direction of Coach Mike Kulich.

Those in attendance included: Coach Kulich, Business Manager Bob Myers, Richard Baxter, Bill Eroe, Mike Covelli, Eddie Van Dusen and F. J. Telesz of the championship squad; Commander Joe Solomon, Athletic Chairman A. Wesley Mann, Senior Vice Commander Merle L. Hildebrand, Manning Weller, Sheriff Frank L. Coen, Coroner Charles E. Allen and Charles Philip "Bugs" Walther of The News; Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Myers, Miss Delma Rodgers, Miss Dina Mrozek, Mrs. Edward L. Van Dusen and Mrs. Frank J. Telesz.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GEORGE McMANUS

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

STANLEY KETCHELL blazed across the yistic firmament as no man ever had before or has since: one vivid, blinding flash—and then extinction," claims Arthur Daley in the June Esquire. Sticking out his neck to prove that Ketchell was one of the greatest performers ever to pull on a boxing glove, the sports columnist tells the story of the middleweight with the murderous mitts whose career was ended by a slug in the back instead of a punch on the jaw. Ketchell was just twenty-four when it happened, yet after thirty years he is still considered the perfect middleweight. Stanley Ketchell "was the greatest of them all. He was such a tremendous hitter that he actually knocked down Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion." In fifty-eight bouts he blasted into unconsciousness the astonishing number of forty-seven opponents. Daley points out that among those victims were Billy Papke and Joe Thomas "who might have ranked with the all-time boxing greats if there had been no Michigan Assassin, as Ketchell came to be called in the papers."

Ketchell's confidence in his own fists was almost unbelievable. Shortly before his bout with the light heavyweight Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Esquire recalls that he asked Nat Fleischer to send a wire for him "Just write: 'I won the fight, Stanley.' The puzzled Fleischer asked "what fight?" to which the champ replied: "The fight with O'Brien tonight," stated the champion. "But that doesn't go on for four hours," exclaimed Fleischer. "What's the difference?" said Ketchell with a shrug of his shoulders. "They always come out like I say." Outside the ring, however, Ketchell couldn't call them quite as well. He said he'd never live to be thirty, but he overestimated. One month after his twenty-fourth birthday, he sat down with his back to a door. To this day no one is sure why the crippled stablehand crept up from behind and with a blast from a .22 ended Ketchell's life.

Million Dollar Damage Suit Filed

GARDEN, N. J., May 13.—(INS)—Attorneys for an AFL Electrical union prepared an answer today to a $1,000,000 damage suit brought by the Radio Condenser Co. of Camden.

The firm charged that the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers violated the Taft-Hartley Act.

Some 800 employees of the plant have been on strike for 29 days to enforce demands for a wage increase.

In the action filed in U. S. District Court, the company asserted the local B987 broke a "no-strike" pledge contained in the current contract.

The Territory of Colorado was organized in 1861.

Finest Press Box In M.-A. Circuit

Big League Press Box Installed
At P. J. Flaherty Field
For Sport Writers

The Johnson Bronze Employees association went all out at P. J. Flaherty field in the erecting of an up to date press box that does not take a back seat to any in the Mid-Atlantic loop.

Authority for that statement is Elmer Daily, president of the circuit, who was a guest in the "coop" for the opening game with Butler.

Under the supervision of Ernie Hawk of the Johnson Bronze engineering staff, the press box is complete in every detail. It's nice and roomy and is a fine vantage point to see everything that is taking place on the field below. Sliding windows take care of the weather situation very nicely.

Installed in the box is a telephone direct to Western Union and there is also a ticker installed that brings in all the baseball scores, including the Mid-Atlantic league games. What's more the box is roomy enough for at least a dozen reporters to cover a game, and still not be crowded.

Interest Is Shown In Adult English Classes At School

One of the most interesting and unusual classes in the adult education program is the special English class for the foreign born which meets at the senior high school building on Thursday evenings. There has been an enrollment of 15 in the class with good attendance each evening.

Members of the class are learning to speak, read and write the English language with many nationalities represented including Italian, Polish, German, Austrian and Greek. There are several Italian war brides in the class and they are interested in learning the language so that they can converse intelligently when they do their shopping.

The class is very eager to learn of the different customs of the American people. A most remarkable gain has been noted in the speech of the pupils.

U. S. Shoppers Buy On Impulse

WILMINGTON, Del., May 13.—(INS)—Food shoppers in the United States do most of their buying on impulse.

According to a national survey conducted by the cellophane division of E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co., one out of every three items purchased in service type food stores was made on impulse.

Out of a grand total of 9,412 grocery items bought by 1,448 shoppers interviewed in service type stores, less than half were planned ahead of time.

The report points out that this impulse buying trend in all types of stores is undoubtedly stimulated by open display and effective packaging.

Gains Are Made In Forenoon Trading; Some Gains As High As Two Points

NEW YORK, May 13.—(INS)—Stocks gained ground in forenoon trading, with emphasis on rails and scattered specialties. Gains ran to as much as two points in carriers. Other groups improved fractionally.

First-hour turnover was 330,000 shares, compared with 360,000 in the like period yesterday.

Union Pacific and Central R. R. of N. J. climbed two points. Santa Fe touched another new high on a gain of 1-8 Nickel Plate, Rock Island and Kansas City Southern were strong.

General Motors edged about 3-8 higher, but the other three pivots—Chrysler, Bethlehem and U. S. Steel—were about unchanged and quiet. Utilities and coppers were in demand. High-priced chemicals were mixed. Aircraft issues were dull and sluggish.

Cotton and grains were mixed. Big board bonds and curb shares continued firm.
